I presume it will not be unwelcome to you (though now in the midst of your friends) to heare from those in Ireland who wish you well; and will, noe question find the effects of it by this inclosed.

My Lord Deputy, and all our other good freinds there, continue in perfect health, thanks be to God, having ended their Progresse, much to their owne Contentment, and to the Satisfaction of his Matie here at home.

The King and the State here, have sent out writts unto divers Inland Countie (not formerly taxed) for Levying moneys to sett out another Fleete of Shippes the next yeare, wch wilbe ^{& those of the best} 45. in number; And I can assure you, the Service goes on wth soe much Alacrity and willingnes in all Parts, as noe one place gainsayes it, wch is much to the Comfort of all honest and good men; nay I am told, that albeit there are not yet sixe weekes passed since the sending out of the writts, they are already collecting the moneys in Yorkshire.

Some of the States men of warre have ben too Busy and saucy upon our Coasts this Last Summer, wherein I beleave they doe by this tyme see their owne Indiscretion, and will learne better manners hereafter.

Our

Our forraime Newes comes hether wth soe much incertaintie as never more; one day telling vs of a great losse by the Imperialists; and another, of as much by the French at one and the same tyme, soe that wee hold it best to beleue neither.

I doubt I am too troublesome to you, therefore will conclude wth assuring you, that I shalbe ever

I have sent you the inclosed letter sealed wth a flying Seale to y^e intent your selfe may peruse it, and at after only (as you well know) wth y^e post and all firm.

I purposely omitted to subscribe it, but left that to y^e selfe best acquainted wth y^e titles therein to be given.

Here wth you also receive my Lo^p of Decrees to you.
They all had com^e sooner to you but y^e m^r Little (who hastely committs him to you) mentiond of a former letter sent to you by London w^{ch} was miscarryd, soe I thought safest to stay these till by some conveniency w^{ch} might send them hinc^e immediately, wth more Safety, to you.
And if I have don^e amiss. therein, doe beseech y^e pardon.

I shall not be further troubl^{som} to you at this time.
Hoping shortly to make presentation of my respects to y^e selfe here in Person. Soe I rest

It resteth on my part to crave yo^r pardon for my omission hitherto, in not acknowledging with all due respect the maner fable I have received from yo^r, for w^{ch} it will ever become me to remaine truly thankfull, and to profess wholly and professedly to serve yo^r upon all occasions, if ever it may be my good fortune to enjoy for much happines, as to give yo^r an apparant testimony thereof.

I confesse I am much blame worthy, that I have not written in all this tyme, for w^{ch} error my noyses first not must helpe to excuse me, w^{ch} indeed hath more distracted me, since yo^r left this place then any employment could have done, howsoever I beseech yo^r to rest confident, that whersoever I am, yo^r shall see to find me yo^r most humble servant.

I had yo^r former letters had delivred the inclosed safely to Lyke wyse shope yo^r put of this last date, but for the 2^d Pastory yo^r put by Mr. Carrs man, they came not to my hands at all, but were by him delivered at Corke house. If they had come to me or to my knowledge, I should not have needed yo^r admonition to have sent them expressly to my Lo. Dangarran, for I have not faith to believe, they wilbe fairly conveyed without violation, if once they touch there and I have nowe entered a Caveat wth Mr.
Carr that henceforth a messenger shall be purposely sent, whensoever any l^{tr} come directed to his L^{ty}, or to my Noble Lady.

I sent to my Lo. Clifford some 10. daies agoe, a Copie of y^e bill against my Lo. of Corke, and his answer thereunto: there is noe further proceeding as yet, nor doe I heare when it wilbe moved or come in question.

I did deliver your Tokens to the 2:

Noble S^r

Give me leave now to salute yo^{rs} by the name of Mr Deane of Armagh, of wch place I pray god send yo^{rs} much Joy,

It is become voyd by the death of the late Deane Mr Mathew and immediately my lo: Primate gave notice thereof by his letter to my lo: Deputy, making likewise mention of yo^{rs} name for my lo: either for me, and Comanded me to draw a warrant for the same to be transferred upon yo^{rs} and for doo intend to please it for yo^{rs} service for yo^{rs} office, got it under the great seals, and after to returne it to my Ladie Dungarban, to be here dormant by brief yo^{rs} assenting.

It was my Lords full intent & purpose to confer it upon yo^{rs} if it should fall in his time, and therefore yo^{rs} shall now enjoy yo^{rs} possession in this Kingdom w^{ch} the more expedient to yo^{rs} than otherwise.

I gave it is but worth for the present 150. £. and to let it will not be above 200. £. upon some lease or copy, but the value of Clogher estate partitioned to my Lord is 300. £. and yo^{rs} may exchange w^{ch} yo^{rs}, but doth offer to be content to let of his at 400. £. annu; but my lo: gives you no business to be further concerned upon betwixt yo^{rs}, as yo^{rs} assenting over.

The last debt widdow by her will is partitioned to my lo: to the his lo: would be pleased to be shown on for the next quarters about ending at All Saints day next, and being (as she intended) but 30. £. but my Lords answer was that she should be paid for some time ago, and that yo^{rs} she must pay for self. My lo: Clifford went from here about a fortnight ago after my lo: Deputy had made the end of his progress, and took Mr Clifford along w^{ch} him into England, but my Ladie Dungarban is to remaine here till his winter.

My lo: Deputy hath given yo^{rs} a certificate of the same, and hath sent yo^{rs} letter to Mr Rayhou for the same, it is thought it not unlikely to receive some more favour as courtesy by Mr Rayhou's kindness, respect being made to yo^{rs} in a more ready manner. I am perswaded that yo^{rs} my humble self will faithfully performe what shall be comanded. I am

About the latter end of February I received yo^r letters dated at Bliffell the 17th of December. And I did instantly deliver them all according to yo^r directions with I gave former signified unto yo^r by letter, but that I wanted conveniently to send I gave none before received another letter dated the 21st of February it came to my hands some 10: days ago and brought my lo: Deputie, and my lo: Promotee and a desire to go to see it, with yo^r grace done accordingly.

My lo: Dep: prayeth now unto yo^r magistrats of Bliffell to yo^r desire, that yo^r will be pleased to discontinue yo^r yo^r coming into his Kingdom, and yo^r lo: will likewise prayeth unto yo^r grace, to let yo^r know, that yo^r must upon necessity to goe to yo^r in 6: months after yo^r receipt of yo^r letters, for longer yo^r saith yo^r may not discontinue yo^r absence. My lo: Primate likewise telleth me yo^r will prayeth unto yo^r to yo^r same effect, and in yo^r meane tyme yo^r is desired that some man may be appointed for yo^r, to yo^r manner is, with words I tell you, yo^r must be pleased to refer, to yo^r shall be done.

I have but to yet received one quarter but being 35th 2^o 6^o yo^r moine I delivered to M^r. Arloffe to yo^r yo^r first offerer and yo^r charges, and to be intelligible for yo^r shall remaine.

Yo^r lands are all for yo^r most part out of lease, and will be improved from all saits next (I hope) to a good value.
I shall not now needs yo^r lande but till I returned from England, whither I am now going, yo^r in yo^r 6: days to attend my lo: Deputie, yo^r lo: giving obsequies here of the King to goe into England for 3: months, to settle yo^r estate, not it remaining out of order, by yo^r Justice Doubt of yo^r Edward, who dyed in winter last, and yo^r yo^r yo^r sole managing of yo^r yo^r estate for manie years past, and made not his bequest to yo^r but yo^r lo: before yo^r date.

my Lo. Dungarvan is verry well in health, but my Ladie his Lopp: hath commaunded me to let yo^r. know yo^r. & yo^r. a desire & purpose (if yo^r. shall accept of it) to come to yo^r. Government. yo^r. education of yo^r. young Duke wch he desires yo^r. should receive as soon as yo^r. oration will permit And therefore hath directed me to under stand from yo^r. how yo^r. doe embrace yo^r. motion, & if yo^r. doe embrace it how soon yo^r. can undertake it. yo^r. I doubt not doe sufficiently understand yo^r importance of this employment. both in respect of yo^r hopefullnesse of yo^r. young Dukes person, and yo^r greatness of his quality & Estate & yo^r singular love & care wch his Maty. doth every day express of his person; and if yo^r. shall accept of yo^r motion & let me understand so much I doubt not but yo^r. shall have sure entere = tainmt. & conditions as shall give yo^r. ample satisfaction & if yo^r. shall employ me therein I will use my best endeavours in it. But whether yo^r. doe accept of it or not I pray let me heare from yo^r. as soon as yo^r. can & I thinke yo^r. shall doe well to enclose a line to my Co.

I received some time since yours of the 27th of Decemb, wth was enclosed for my L^{ty} Chamberlain, and since that I received an other of the $\frac{18}{28}$ of Febr: by M^r Battier, wth whom I have not spoken, being at the time hee brought the letters in Physick, and since I have not had the goodhapp to meet wth him. But in neither of your letters or in that to my L^{ty} Chamberlain, I can finde a certayn resolution whether you will accept of the charge of the Duke of Buckingham ham or not. Since that time there is fallen out a great disfavour by the death of my young Lord Herbert my L^{ty} Chamberlains sonne, by w^{ch} the Alliance between my Lady Duchesse and him is disolved: but yet both my L^{ty} Chamberlain and my Lady Duchesse doe continue very desirous, that you should undertake the charge of the young Duke. and they have now commanded mee to write a page unto you about it. You shall have a good entertainment to your satisfaction, you shall have the means to make your self knowne and accepted both to the King, and whatsoever hath any eminence in this State, you shall have the gouvernement of an young Lord, both of great expectation, and great fortune of his owne, by w^{ch} alone you may in time expect a sufficient advancement, and if you doe resolutely entertain the motion, my Lady Duchesse for his letter to the Magistrats of Basile, and for his dispensation to hold the See of Armagh, but she would desire you to forbear to take Ecclesiasticall orders upon you, during the time you shall remaine wth her sonne. It will be to no purpose forme

Dear Sir

Your second I received, this congratulates you according to y^e Common vote, when all danger will not deter you at home, some pleasing profits must allure you abroad. From Ireland we have all the Deputy's former progress, hath much discontented some of y^e Provinces, touching you nearly in their titles to all they possess, too long to relate the grounds. I like my L^d Dungarvan wth Carrants as you injoynd me. Heare hath bin a fortnight's noyse of y^e Prince Electors coming over, and of his stay, now y^e greatest part concluded his coming, Lodgings are provided for him at Hampton Court, if he come suddainly, if he stay till the King come to London he has the Princess at Whitehall, and all the children will be at Wallingford House, because y^e Queen wth St James, shee looks not till toward Canisling. Our shipmony is gathering on cheerfully, since our Fleet hath done such good service, Cap: Stradling one of y^e 6 ships now left abroad, writes that he late made the Admirall of France and an other wth him, strikes; Our Customs in many particulars wth all iustnes will soon be raysed being the lowest in y^e Kingdoms, Dr Wren Bish of Hereford shall be Bish of Norwich, & must tell you he is lik to hold up high, St Davids succeeds him, we have nothing but Romish relations of all things abroad, I beseech you in large your selfe, and in requitall. It will be short, since ours so little merit; they are putting in a new bill in the Star Chamber agaynst my L^d of Lincoln, it seems they will not goe up the first. Wee have good store of Monopolys every day, w^{ch} certainly will be very beneficiall to y^e Kingdoms, in their laudable invention, there is a precept came yesterday unto London to inquire, y^e number, quality of all strangers, it sayth because of y^e feare of y^e plauge, but I understand the plauge in trade, by w^{ch} they undermin our natives

I understand from my very good friend Mr Raitcher of a friend letter of yours whom withall you were pleased to borrow me. Though it was not my happiness that it should come to my hand I found the messenger that brought it hath suffered more of whose safety his friends depend after so long expectation.

When I was in Comaght waiting upon my lord I acquainted him that the Deanery of Armagh was likely every day to fall void, and of his party to you and accordingly it happened (though after my return) within a fortnight. And verily if you had bene here I suppose you would readily have assented to an exchange proposed by the Dona of Cloyne of his Donny for yours, which upon the exchange he was ready to send at foot a year and above the same. The reason of his desire was some leases which he made at his first entrance at an undervalued which by the exchange would be aboyed so much I desired me little long since in my absence to request unto you And now I have done

I have bene at Dubline this term as busy as ever you see me and much more And now I am goinge to Downy only to keep Christmas with my neighbours should not complain of me in that respect And then I must returne instantly In my way I have gained the purchase of all my lord Primmers Tenants which will be the betteringe of his revenue 1200 a year In my returne backe I hope to do the like for Cloyne.
I thank you and my lord deeply for your

I received your letter from Holy-lead; and was very glad to understand hereby your safe arrivall. What you desire concerning the picture, shall be performed. for I may not deny you any thing here at home, who are so ready to do all things for me abroad. Sidonius Bucherius hath inserted into his Commentary upon Victorius his Paschal Canon (printed at Antwerp, an^o 1533.) pag.
 244. a Collection of an ancient author; consisting of these five particulars.

- I. A Catalogue of Consuls, from the years of our Lord 205. to 354. (pag. 247.) una cum Paschali centum annorum Laberulo; ab anno 312. ad 411. (pag. 248.)
- II. Nomina Praefectorum Urbis Romae, ab anno 254. ad 354. (pag. 236.)
- III. Parvum Martyrologium. (pag. 267.)
- IV. A Catalogue of the Bishops of Rome, from S. Peter to Liberius. (pag. 269.)
- V. An ancient Roman Calendar. (pag. 275.) The same that was before published by Hervart.

The fourth of these Petarins hath he had. lib^o 11^o de doctrina Temporum, cap. 21. pag. 332. which would desire might be compared with that which is printed, and the differences sent unto me. It were also good to learne of him, whence he had his copye, and whether that had not the rest also of the forenamed treatises, as well as his fourth. for all of them are worth the comparing with other manuscripts: the first especially, which wanteth the beginning; from the first Consuls, untill those of the year of our Lord 205.
 Sirmondus also may be inquired of touching the same: who hath ~~some~~ other ma-nuskripts; whereof I desire either by your own, or by some others means, you would procure me a transcript. They are these.

- I. Idatii Episcopi Fastorum Consularium pars prima, et ultima. for the middle part only he caused to be printed together with Idatius his Chronica at Paris an^o 1619. (22. ab saeculo Aureliani Aug. ad obitum Honorij.) but the rest, how faultye soever, I should desire might be transcribed for my use.
- II. Excerptum Anonymi scriptoris, continens brevem historiam temporum Con- stantij Glorij et Constantini Magni filij eius. (cited by Petarins, de doctrina Temporum, part. 2. pag. 312.)

He hath also an other Manuscript, containing a Collection of diverse treatises concerning Cycles et rationes Paschales: most whereof have bene already published by Petarins and Bucherius. Of those that remaine unprinted, I desire only to know the titles and the first words: that I may compare them with those which I have of the same kinde, as yet unprinted. He likewise hath the last part of Prosperus Chronicle, which is not yet printed. I should be glad to know whether there be any thing in it touching the first coming of the Saxons into Brittain, for the ayding of the natives there against the Picts and Scots.

4 ana. Cris. 16. et 448.

In his notes upon Facundus, pag. 32. a. (edit.
 Paris. anno 1629.) he promiseth the publication of Leporius his libellus (satisfactions ad Gallos Episcopos: which if you see is not likely to be shortly effected, it would not be amiss to procure a copye of it. He citeth also (as I remember) in his notes upon Sidonius Apollinaris, the Commentaries of Sedulius upon Matthew. I pray you learne of him where they are to be found: and if you can come to a sight of them, take a note of what he writeth upon Matth. XVII. 18, 19. and XXVI. 26, 27, 28, 29. I would willingly be at the charge of the transcribing of the whole works; if I could see it copied.
 In his notes upon the Gallican Councils, he citeth these Manuscripts.

- I. Hincmari opera varia, in codice MS. Laurentij Leodicensis. wherein if there be any that concerne the cause of Gottschalms; you know the copye thereof would stand me in some stead for the furnishing of the second edition of his Historye.
- II. Ejusdem Hincmari posterioris opus adversus Gottschalmum et Praxedoniam Lianos; together with other treatises written by him of the same argument. in codice MS. Bibliothecae S. Remigij apud Remenses. Out of these also think is cited by Rigaltius, among the testimonies which he placeth beginning of 3rd edition of Tertullian, in folio. It either by 18, or Simonides in direction, you can get a course for obtaining a copy Nicolay Caruzabaty, who sett out the Antiquities Ecclesie Trinitatis (of whom you may learn by Simonides, in an Epistolæ, and others here) hath already offer-red things which concern the cause of Gottschalck; and among the rest, Prædicatione Trinitatis and episcopi episcopum contra Joannem Scotum; which he promised to publish. If you can procure nothing from him; you may have a copye transcribed for me of the last work of Prædicatione, or Trinitatis Bibliotheca in the Episcopi Prædicatione Trinitatis. In which librarye you shall also finde, Ruffinum libro contra Græcos: et De corpore et sanguine Domini. The former whereof it was thought that Simon-des would have published before now; together with Hieronymi Epistolæ et Liber Prædicatione, touching the same argument. You may inquire of Simons what he intends to doe therein; and cause copies to be taken of them, if it were not to have them printed. The other is Copie et sanguine Domini; which is commonly sold under the name of Bertramus. I would desire your kindness to transcribe out of Trinitatis in MS. and afterwards compare with an other MS. of the same as Mr. Casaubon told me he saw in Bibliotheca D. Jacobi Gihli Senatoris Parisiensis; if yet that may be found.

 Either in that of Trinitatis or in either the libraries at Paris there is to be had may tell me, that he cannot doe a thing more acceptable to those that are studious of ancient libraryes, then to publish the Chronicle of Georgius Synkellos (which is in the French Kings library) together with its continuation in Trinitatis: although it is out at first in Græcicis only, without any Latin translation or Notes. And if you finde him backward therein: you may make the like motion unto Ruffinus, or some other indigent man of your acquaintance here. A great part of Georgius is already transcribed into Latin, by Josseph Scaliger in his Græcicis of Trinitatis. And this may save the transcriber a great deale of labour. And this may concern Manuscripts. Some printed books I can not get in England; which peradventure you may bestow upon at Paris. as

Since I sending of my two last letters unto you by the packet: I received yours of the 19. of January, w^{ch} brought me the wellcome news of the arriving of the 20. Ms. volumes that I had desired. I have taken order wth Mr. Richey, that on the twentye p^{er} had presently be remitted unto you by bill of exchange. I know not how sufficiently to express my thankfulness to that unknown Civilian, who was pleased so farre to respect me, as to committ unto I adventure of the sea those other rare writings of the same argument. Only for your discharge, and for better keeping of such worthe monuments: I will that they be not committed to a new hazard of being sent over s^{ea}, but that M^r. Bunnell may take care that they be transcribed in London by some that hath knowledge in French tongue, and that the originals (the transcripts having bene first carefullie collated herewith) may afterward be from hence wth great thankes remitted unto the owner.

I sent you a note heretofore, when I thought you intended a journey towards Florence, touching the collation of Ignatius his epistles wth the Greeke Manuscript there. It may be you may heare of Simonides or some others, that there is some Manuscript thereof to be had at Paris. If there be; I should be much beholden to your Cousin Battier (whom I am farr in his debt for kindness already) for taking some paynes to collate the same wth the printed booke. for I am very desirous to publish Ignatius free from those additions w^{ch} the later Grecians have corrupted him wth all manner ofaine conjectures (as Velsius hath done) but by the authority of written copies.

I would have you take your opportunity of visiting my Lo. of Canturbury, for he writeth unto me, that when you delivered unto him my letters, he was going to Court and so had no time to speake wth you then. The picture is long since finished; as you desired. which is a yours recompense for your great love and kindness by you shewed unto me: for which I must still remayne

Worthy Sir.

Presently upon the death of the Deane of Armagh: I wrote unto my Lo. Deputy (who was then newly returned from his progress in Connaught) and put him in minde of his promise made unto you before your departure from Bence. Who hath most nobly performed the same, and given present order for the passing of your Patent under the great seal. Your predecessors widow is at this time dealing with him for the rents of the quarter ending at All-Saints next. What answer his Lo. will give unto her, I do not yet knowe: but howsoever; I should advise you to beginne your entrie wth doing a worke of mercy. for without doubt the widow and her poore children by the sottise carelesse of the late Deane are left in a most miserable condition.

I thank you for your dealing wth Sirmondus touching of Manuscripts. Whatsoever he intendeth to publishe, I have no reason to looke for before he hath sett them out to the viewe of the world: But the other things I trust you will have a care of at your returne hither: which I hope will be with all convenient speed. Among the bookes w^{ch} Mr. Perkin did use in his Historye of the Waldenses (the most whereof, I thank you) you have procured for me) the Memorials of Sieur de Vignaux (Pastor of the Church of the Waldenses in Piemont) are often cited the copye whereof if you could obtayne, you should therein doe me a good pleasure. I beseeche you remember my most affectionate respects unto reverend Doctor Zwinger, and Mr. Buxtorfius, whose learned letter I often read over with very great delight and contentment. Because I am uncertaine, whether this letter shall ever come unto your hands,

--- Εὐεὶ μὲν ἄλλα πολλὰ μετὰ εἶ Ὀυρεὰ τε οὐβέρτα, βάλσαμά τε ἡχέαδα.

I write the more both negligently and briefly. And therefore commending you and your goodly endeavours unto Gods blessing, I here ende; and evermore rest

Your own most assured Ja: Armachanus.

I received Mr. Moulins little booke against Image worshipping; and the 2. small volumes of Retarding his abridgement of the Doctrine of Images: for which I heartilye thank you. If there be any thing since sett forth by Retarding: or the second part of Francisus Bosquetus his latin historye of the Church of France, be yett published: I pray you in your returne bring them with you.

Shortly after y^e dispatche of my letter unto you touching the death of the Deane of Armaçh and the passing of your Patent for that place; I receivd a letter from you, dated at Basill y^e 23th of July last. Wherein you signifye, that there is a MS. transcribed for me in y^e Italian tongue, containing the History of y^e Waldenses: which I hope will prove to be the memorialls of Sieur de Vignaux; and not the same with the other y^e Italian Historye of y^e Waldenses formerlye sent unto me by M^r. Battier. which beinneth thus: [Bene in tutti i tempi sia stata grande la impratitudine delli huomini etc.] and reacheth from the beginning of the reformation untill about the year 1572.

Among the books w^{ch} M^r. Perrin had, there was one volume wherein there were containd many Sermons of y^e Barbes, and an Epistle intituled [The Epistle to our friends.] and a book intituled, Sacerdotium. He had also another book, called [The Treasurie and light of faith.] and an other, intituled [The spirituell Almanacke.] It may be, that good Cirilian of Lions will be able to procure those, as well as he did the others; and in some requiteall of his kindnesse I will be readye to impart unto him such MSS. of my predecessor Richardus Armachanny his workes as are come unto my hand; ~~and~~ especiallye his 29-books de Questionibus Armenorum, and his 7. books de Paupertate Servatoris against the Fryars. If I receave any further direction from you; the books shall be sent unto London to M^r. Burnett: and by his means conveyd to what part of France M^r. Battier shall appoint them to be transmitted. if the gentleman shall thinke them worthye the transcribing.

Sirmondus in Notis ad Apollinarij Sidonij lib. 4. epistol. 3. citat Gennadij of the defects thereof. Idem in Notis ad Facundium Hermianensem, pag. 562.

Citat Aziti Viennensis scriptum ad Bursundionem regem, quo Faustū ad Paulinū epistolam refellit. I suppose he meant to print the himselfe: and therefore there is little hope to gett a cōpye thereof from him. / But I have troubled you too much already in these matters of this kinde: and therefore at this time will impose no further burden upon you; but expecting to see your selfe here with all speed convenient, I comitt you to God and rest Worthy S.

We came out of Ireland some month since where we left all well, & passed some 3. months time away there, up & downe, some times in visiting the trophies of my lo. of Corkes fortune, some times in visiting friends, My lo. no doubt hath given you an Account of his re-gociation wth my lo. Deputy on my lo. of Corkes behalfe, but whome my lo. found to willfull & confident of his Integrity, & full of Loyalty towards the Deputy that nothing almost could be effected, yett my lo. Deputy did in a manner chake a way out that he was to goe in, to compass a fayre accomodation of the busines & hinder it from coming to a publick hearing, thereupon Letters were sent whylest we were there to my lo. Chamblaine & my lo. Salisbury to move the King in it, but he would doe nothing in it till my lo. Deputy Certified the state of the Cause; But I perceive nothing will satisfy my lo. of Corkes but a totall taking ^{up} of all things & so part wth nothing ^{can} cannot be done. At this present Mr Bradnedge is come over wth Franck & Robert to Eaton, but his cheife business I beleive is to see if he can labour some about the King for a prohibition to y^e Deputy to stay proceedings w^{ch} he will I doubt never obeyne & my lo. hath often told him, the Dep: must doe the best when he had done all he could, we shall see this terme the Event, Notwithstanding his Confidence of the Cause, my lo. Geo: Ladcliff offered upon his credit to make it appeare that he would be east of his owne Empire, & use noe profes at all, & was not wille to let my lo. of Corkes much of this business, with grievous & troubled my lo. extremely for that he should my lo. I understand myselfe with hartemate, & I cannot on his further behalfe, not wth all the reason by some suppose. This michard was sent after me 2. days after my lo. of Corkes that my lo. of Corkes should send me to send me it, but since I came to London I have that my lo. Deputy hath given you notice thereof, & how for you had. notwithstanding will be

I could not let passe, this convenient opportunity, and trusty messenger, with-out kissing your hands, by these few lines, before my going into Italy. My Friends, and country men here hath for much prevailed with me, that they have made me ingadge my selfe, to passe the Alps with them. I am extreame sorry, that our affaires fall out soe that we cannot enjoy your sweete company at Bassel. But willing, all the busines in the world, shall not hinder my waighting on you, the next spring, as I come out of Italy. The next Munday we doe intend to beginne our journey. M^r Flambelet, M^r Campion, and ~~in~~ there company doe departe from hence, this next wednesday for Lyons. I would wright to you some newes, but I am afraid my intelligence, will come to you, at the second hand. I make noe question but by this ^{time} you have received letters from M^r Batterie, of his safe arivall at Paris, which is the authour of our newes, but for feare his letters should be miscarried, I will rune over the particulars. The King of England is preparing another flete, greater then that which he hath sent out already, to goe out the next spring and for the preparation of the same flete, the Kinge hath imposed a some of three score thousand pounds, on all his subjects, but it is thought that they will hardly agree to it, without a Parliament. The King is much displeas'd with y^e marriage of the Duches of Buckingham, and y^e Lord Donluce, his maesty hath taken both her sons the young Duke, and his brother, from the Duches, and put them to some other place to be brought up. M^r Henry Rich is gone to sea, after the flete. The Lady Turbicke came to Paris disguised, in mans apparel, and dieted at Curtins for a weake, with the other pentioners, unknownen, but now she hath taken a chamber, and retired her selfe. I feare I have bine over tedious to you, wherefore beeing pardone for the same, desiring you to place me in the catholodge of your

Rien du monde n'est plus mis en plus à jet que la messe laquelle, come aussi la ex jointe de Mons^r Coire m'obligent de saluer de vob^s honn^{rs} graces, en vous demandant pardon de l'importunité que il vous donne, sachant fort bien vos affaires infinies, dont vous estes chargé autrement. Les nouvelles que nous avons dans ces quartiers sont de peu de relief.
A Paris on continue les bruits, le bruit commun dit que c'est pour traiter l'Espée à la main, mais la disette d'argent fait presumer plusieurs choses. On se sçait d'avoir secouru Colmar et Esloigne Gallas. D'autre costé on se fascie des langueres de Hollande et des froi deurs de Londres: mesmes prend on en mauvaise part que l'Electeur Palat. doit avoir escrit à l'Empereur une lettre trop pleine de soumission et le Duc de Simeur un autre de mesme à l'El. de Saxe. La France trouve cela mauvais. On assure que la dernière Ambassade envoyée vers l'Emp^r par le Roy d'Espagne, sera la der niere. Car es apres on fera par effect, ce qu'on n'a pu faire par envoys. Mais entre toutes ces nouvelles la plus certain et constante est, que il n'y a point à jamais.

I render many thanks for yr letter, and desire to see excuse, for not answering sooner; my absence in part being for urgent occupations, leaving me no time to write. Yr return to Paris hath brought contrary effects in me at once both joy and sorrow, because I perceive that by yr return, yr desires have had small hopes 11. August. 1635.

Worshipful Sir

I finde myself extremely beholden to you for your confident expressions concerning your secret resolutions, and that which exceeds my obligation, the pronounced opinion of my presence wherein you may be understood to be depended. If I were not a publique servant to the Monarchie of great Brittain, I should with unfeigned praise applaud your first resolution: ~~but~~ which if I should performe, by my construction, it might thought, that my chiefest approbation did rather proceede from our gaine, then from a desire to see you settled in a happy & prosperous estate, and as your virtues I hope shortly (but keepeth to your selfe) to have an occasion to see by and to express myselfe fully unto you both concerning publique & private affairs. Yesterday I had the honor to receive letters from my Mother with some important considerations which cannot yett be put in execution, being important accidents, infallibly depending thereupon, being not yett come to requisite maturity, & other ^{more} objects of your consideration. In the meantime I am assured, that our Religious & Just King, hath in his good then honorable resolutions, & the comfort of all orthodox Protestants, and to the confusion of those, which either by corruption or out of pentivene rebulancie, dare to take the action of the Lord against those who dream maliciously invidious, and vnderneath the height of indignitude (all things considered) with one day full leave upon the matter. All those that have any impression in the affairs of Christendom, know the invincible hurt these detestable lies have produced, all sorts to the life of our faithfull & searable Churches, this diabolicall seed hath produced both scandall & division, you a small alienation of affection amongst those who are obliged by divine & humane law to be inviolably vinted in the propagation of Gods truth and maintenance of publique liberty and that being of our Conscience is made in heaven farre above all earthly tribulations. The justification which y^e have used concerning the malicious aspiration laid upon y^e was not necessary, for I was so confident that it was ^{an} untruth, that when the Duke of Marlborough was written written, brought me the letter, I did swear unto him, that it was impossible y^e should ^{have} spoken any such thing besides the Author whom you name such ignominious shame, by his frequent stumbling upon the like though not so criminal error, that shall believe it added to any thing that comes from him. However, it was necessary to make use of y^e charge & sensible Invention which I have done very publiquely so y^e know, so the comfort of many and to his shame that bore the cause of all this noise and pernicious rumour. I will not fail in due time & place somewhat with gratitude, the height of y^e detestation of his M^{ty} service.

Concerning publique affairs, I have only leisure to tell y^e (being interrupted by an unpropitious report of the Venetian Republic) that for certain the Duke of Crequi, hath broken the peace of Italy, by besieging the Villana a fort kept out from the Sea. It is certain that the French Armie in the Low Countries doth only consist of ²⁰ men which are recruited from some by land and the rest by water. I think y^e doubt no more of the taking of Sebricken shant. Things stand not well in France. Monie is scarce, and all the party and finances, will advance no more money in regard of the danger, in expating the sautes according to the new Griefs. The picture in general place is not yet extant of French ships, with 40 fanny, a piece did meet with a small English shippe in the height. The French in an arrogant manner commanded the English shippe to strike jacks, which being refused, as not acknowledging any inferiourtye that the French could flye at them. The fight was till the English had but 7 men left and the French left above 100. Finally the French beand them upon our restate of them sett fire to the powder which blew them all up & gave them. It is said that our fleet did meet with a of 100 of the hand, which at the first call did strike jacks. I have given Mr Baderman the letter out of France I make no doubt but you have understood that the Marquis de ¹⁷⁰² Boves had taken an Isle and fort in Provence, which would doubtless give the League a trifling advantage. The general peace is so far advanced, that Augsburg is agreed upon to be the meeting the Peace betwixt Denmark & Sweden is like to be broken, by the powerful opposition of the House of Austria.

 I was from Milan of the 22th of this

I have receiv'd y^r last of the 23th of September, for the which, I render due thanks: after a serious consideration how to establish the business of the Helvetians scholars, in a necessary, solide, and firme manner, so that it may breed an uniuersall contentation, I finde it in my judgement, a matter not easily to bee effected by letters, for considering all things, it requires the assiduell paines of an affectionate solicitor. I hope in the dead of Winter to haue the happiness to transport my selfe into the blessed Isle, hauing already demanded leaue of the King my Maister, for to repatriate my selfe for some few weeks, which when I shall obtaine, I will make the said business one of my chiefest cares, which I doe to bring to a good end. For there remains only the settling it in such a manner, in the Vniuersities, as that it may bee durable. the greatest point being already gain'd by his Maies^{tyes} royall approbation, as I told y^e in my last letter, and I doubt not but that my Lord of Canterbury, hauing receau'd an ample information, of the good it is like to produce, will second his Maies^{tyes} good intention. Concerning

By reason of some Companies, that are at this to accept the receipt of your warrant for the $\frac{4}{14}$ of 900. only I must tell you, that the Duke of Milan hath had the fortune to be the Spaniards at Prolegno in the October 1500 being slain, and all their baggage together with some manner of other things, so officers taken prisoner some of our friends have left likewise their best with conflict and many wounds. The Spaniards have been reinforced and the Generals that are in Italy are daily increasing, so that it is thought, that shortly we shall have of another taking in those parts. The Cardinals have granted the passage for 100000 horse, providing the Spaniards pay them a pension, and send some subvention for the maintenance of the said troops during their constitution. It is said that the Marshall de Regis, is returned before Valencia, where by a secret message is said he hath knowledge of some of the secret. The truth of which shall be known from the pretensions of sundry Colonells and Captains

By this inclosed you will see in what posture the affaires stand in Italie. The Imperialists continue their march through the little Canons toward the State of Milan. It is rumour (I cannot get down true) that some of the Regiments are shortly to appear upon these confines which are to take the same way the Papistical Canons have received this week from Ducatores in payment of some of the rents, one was taken from Faenza, and all the Ducatores due was taken for having granted the passage to the Spaniards many years since.
The Canons are generally discontented, seeing that the French Kings seditious promises have hitherto had no effect in the restitution of their Transalpine Dominions. Their Displeasure is greatly expressed by the present Austrian Government and the insolence of the French Soldiers inasmuch that the Papists are threaten'd if they be reduced to despair that a Italian Nation may prove more dismal

Madame,

What fears I had to be forgotten of yo^e Lad^{ps}. my want of power to deserve the favour of yo^e thoughts multiplied every daye more & more: untill your Lad^{ps}. letter from Lismore of the 12th of June last, gave me assurance againe, y^e yo^e Lad^{ps}. continuess still mindfull of yo^e servants, though they be of those y^e confesse themselves unprofitable. On^{ly} part of a Generositie yo^e have alwayes used w^{ch} such an excess toward me y^e I must be ashamed of my povertie, when I consider yo^e Lad^{ps}. continuall obligations, & my unworthinesse to recasse them. This last favour of yo^e Lad^{ps}. by w^{ch} I am now honoured from my Lord & Deputie in the Church of Ireland, were enough to challenge all possibilitie of power, y^e ever while I breath might give me hopes to deserve it: and being formerly for many wayes yo^e, I can not flatter my selfe wth new acquisitions of merit, unless they proceed from the abundance of yo^e Lad^{ps}. whether in iustice they ought to returne. At this distance I can have noe hopes of it at all, & therefore humbly entreate yo^e Lad^{ps}. to have patience wth yo^e debtour, till he come out of Egypt into the land of promise, w^{ch} will be a merve & impossibilitie for me to thinke on, unless I maye have a yeares time or more to free my selfe by degrees, & convert my Estate into monie, (a thinge in these times of warre most difficult.) Besides for the procuring of my disengagement wth yo^e Publique, where, as yo^e Lad^{ps}. knowes, I have a Professors place in the Universitie, nothing but my Lord Deputies letter to yo^e Magistrate, & my Lord Primate's to yo^e Universitie, can be avaylable. w^{ch} favours though I confesse my selfe unworthie of; yet being to speake to yo^e Lad^{ps}. (w^{ch} doeth not consider my merit, but her owne goodnesse to oblige freely) I am thus bold, to begg this double favour for to attaine yo^e full accomplishment of my happiness, w^{ch} besides yo^e service I owe now to God in his church, shall consist in my devotion to yo^e & yo^e.

But whilist I am forced to continue absent from my charge in Ireland I begg both of my Lord Deputie & my Lord Primate, y^e my installment maye be done by a Proxie, & a dispensation granted for my absence. I have heretofore heard of my Lord Primate, y^e this Deanry hath a free & temporall Estate, not binding to a local residence: & therefore imagine, yo^e Lad^{ps}. will easily obtaine yo^e letter, y^e greater having bene granted at yo^e entreatie.

what in my letter to my lady, I have been told to say, I beseech you to take in good part, & receive my self, & what may for ever be called mine into your protection, being your as many ways, as I have means to subject. The country is so pitifully exhausted of all necessaries, and grows yet under the burden of continual armies, that I shall have through it, or lodge in it, I shall have much trouble to see what I have here. And when I have done all my engagement to the publick (besides what respects I owe to my mother & the rest of my friends) is such that nothing but my Lord Deputies & my Lord Primate's letters can procure my liberty here, when I have, I shall receive to returne to your Dearest friend.

Had the success been enforceable by my wishes & endeavours I were now nearer yorke shire than I am: besides y^e ~~company~~ companions there have been many reasons to write me, I doubt not but you know long since, what favour I owe my L^d Deputy by y^e means, & y^e intercessions of my La: Dungarvan; but it pleased his L^d (since I came to Basell) to confer upon me the Deansy of Armac; for w^{ch} could I find any thing in or about my selfe worthy a retribution, both his L^d & you should perceive y^e gratitude of my heart. I beseech yo^r, s^r, rest confident of y^e good will, & best labour to produce me a better expression in effect.

Desires my Lady Dutchesse of Buckingham her Graces, & my Lord Chamberlaine desired Sr William Beecher to write to me severall times, y^t I should come over & undertake y^e charge of the young Duke w^{ch} gave greater offers, than I could possibly desire. Notwithstanding all this, & y^e voluntarie inclination I have for England, my engagements here are such, y^t is out a letter from my Lord Deputy to this Magistrate, it will be impossible for me to resigne my place in this universitie. w^{ch} hath occasioned me to intreat my Lord Deputy this 2^d time, to amplify his favour soe farre, (though undeserv'd) y^t I maye obtaine y^e freedom to enjoye his gift, of w^{ch} my absence must necessarily deprive me, unless his L^d be pleas'd to favour me wth a dispensation. I have no reason to presume soe farre upon my L^d, when I consider my selfe, but knowing his L^ds noble disposition, to graunt, what I aske of him, my intreaties are, that you will make y^e request to my Lord y^t outill by favour of his L^ds letter I may procure my libertie here, his L^d assure his donation wth a warrant for my absence.

If in the meane time these parts afford any thing for his L^ds or yo^r service, lett me but know y^e least value of it & my power shall be tryed to y^e utmost.

After y^e manner to pardon my penne y^t abuses yo^r patience & imagine what yo^r doe for my falling in England or Ireland, yo^r doe it for a poore prisoner & our y^t is Amongst many yo^r ^E L^{ps}. unprofitable servants, y^e have had the honour to be knowne of you, not by any service they could doe yo^u yet, but by such favours yo^u bestowed upon them, I must needs account my selfe one of the chiefest havinge neither merit to deserve what I ought yo^r ^E L^{ps}. at my beinge in England; nor power to acknowledge now what obligations I received from yo^u since. which I confesse, had noe lesse exceeded my believe, then it now doeth my best expressions of thanks; had not s^r. William Beecher of late given me assurance thereof in his letter, & soe obliged me to this returne, w^{ch} I humbly desire may be thought as boyd of presumption, as I wish it full of gratitude.

The honour, yo^r ^E L^{ps}. doth me in thinkinge me capable of soe greate a charge exceeds all my merits soe farre, y^e were I at libertie, as I am now bound to Basell against my will, I durst not undertake it: neither doe I know how my resolution of beinge a Churchman hereafter, would please yo^r ^E L^{ps}. if I were able otherwise to undergoe it.

I have written at large to s^r. William Beecher, who will present yo^r ^E L^{ps}. the willingness of my service with a desire to be disengaged here, y^e I might see yo^r ^E L^{ps}. altogether.

My L^{ds}. Herbert & Mr. Philip made soe shorte a staye in this towne, when they passed through Switzerland, y^e I could not have time enough to appeare sufficiently their servants: neither could the longest time confine the the extent of my desire, y^e beinge infinite, as well as my ambition is to bee for ever.

My Lord

yo^r ^E L^{ps}. &c

The duplicate of yo^r letter dated 4th of August, I have lately received; but could not know from whom it came, until Mr Castell my Marchant supplied me with the subscription by his of the 9th of September, who told me yo^r I ought his favour to yo^r for yo^r I heartily thank you.
The Original I fear is lost in a whole packet, was sent me at the same time; of which I never heard since.
However I am glad this escaped, to assure me of yo^r love, & to give me occasion to thank yo^r for it; as likewise to acknowledge those many obligations I owe yo^r Chamberlain, which without presumption I might not have done before. This I enclosed to his Dr. contains a poor acknowledgment of his favours; I am short, I know, of his good opinion; but a true demonstration of mine owns.
The honour which his Dr. doth me in thinking me worthy of so great a charge, exceeds yo^r opinion & knowledge; I have of myself, so much; though I were in England, I durst not without ^{maturing} deliberation undertake it: but being tyed to Basel for at least a year longer, & likewise refused to be one of yo^r Clergie, when I can get away, I do not know, if from my Lord might I make me fit for such a place.
I doubt not, but yo^r have heard, yo^r my Dr. Deputy of late given us the Deamy of Arnach in France, which though it be all of a temporal Estate, & require not strict residence, having no cure of souls annexed, as most of the others have; yet do I fear I shall not be able to keep it by reason of my absence from France, unless his Majesty would grant me his Royal dispensation, & command me some other service here, whilst I am forced to stay in these parts: when being engaged to the Publick by a Professours place, I hold in this university, I should conceive it the greatest happiness my would to serve my Chamberlaine, in any thing his Dr. would command me, which I might conceive easily get away, & so be at his disposing altogether.

The only & more honourable waye to free my selfe here, were to bee fetchd off by favour of the Kings letter to ^{the} Ma^g =istrate (y^e Senate of this towne) grounded either upon my preferment in Ireland, or any other imployment, y^e might disengage me here, & oblige me eternally for England.
 Whereof though I confesse my selfe unworthie, I am the bolder to tell you; y^e more you are to know of my resolution; & to assure my ^{selfe} Chamberlaine, y^e nothing should keepe me from his service, but my imprisonment here.
 But in this I humbly desire your secrets, y^e y^e wayes of procuring my liberty here, & keeping y^e place in y^e church of Ireland maye be thought rather y^e propo= =sition, then my ayme. whereof I doubt not more, then yo^u shall of my being yours of the 29th of March both copie & letter came to my hands at some dayes since both at once: whereupon I would have sent my resolution immediately, had I known so late a way, as by this bearer.

Of him you will understand my engagements were to be such, without advocatorie letter to this Republicke I can with no resolu-tion leave this place: & though I could, yet so farre out into Ecclesiasticall Orders, it - fears my service would not so well be accepted of, or at the least withdraw me from my first resolution.

I beseech you therefore present wth this real excuse my most humble & humble thanks both to my L^d. Chamberlaine & my Lady Dutchesse her Grace for this so great favour of w^{ch} they would never have thought me worthy, had not their good opinion been more powerful in this choice than my defects.

This obligation, rather than any thing else, doth move me to become a most humble Tutor to her Grace & my L^d.
Chamberlaine, & by their means I may be comforted in that place, w^{ch} in my absence my L^d. Deputie hath fornably bestowed upon me; untill I shall have the happi-nesse to free my selfe of this place, & become their servant, in what employment they shall then judge me fitt for.

The daily expectation of a letter from my L^d. Deputie to the Magistrate of this towne, puts me in hopes to be in England this summer, where I should thinke it honourable ^{my greatest fortune} enough to be thought as thank--full in ~~my opinion~~ ^{my opinion} at all my labours, as I am to be ~~in my opinion~~ ^{in my opinion} to assure I author of it of as much gratitude, as I owe them;

whereof your part, you shall doubt not more then I believe you are of, & I am yours
J. J. G.

To Mr. William Beecher.

Sir.
Yours of y^e 29th of March, both copie & letter came to my hands about three dayes since both at once; whereupon I wou'd have sent you my resolution immediatly, had I known so safe a waye, as this, by this bearer.

Of him you will understand my engagements here to be such, y^t without an avocative letter to this Republique I can with no reputation leave this place; and though I could, yet so farre intrid into Ecclesiastique Orders, y^t I fear my service wou'd not so well be accepted of, or at the least withdraw me from my first resolution.

I beseech you therefore, present with this weak excuse, my most heartie and humble thanks, both to my Lord Chamberlaine and my Ladie Dutchesse, for this so great favour; of w^{ch} they wou'd never have thought me worthy, had not their good opinion been more powerfull in this choice, than my deserts.

This obligation; rather than any thing else, wou'd move me, to become a most humble sute to his Grace and my Lord Chamberlaine, y^t by their means I may be considered in y^e place, w^{ch} ~~is my desire~~ ^{is} my Lord Deputie hath so nobly bestowed upon me; untill I shall ^{have} my happiness to free myselfe of this place, ^{here} and become their servant, in what employment, they shall then judge me fitt for.

The daily expectation of a letter, from my Lord Deputie to the Magistrate of this towne, putteth me in hopes, to be in England this Summer; where I should thinke it ^{my greatest} fortune, to assure y^e Authors & Conveyors of it, of as much gratitude ~~as I owe them~~ ^{as I owe them}, to be thought as thankfull in y^e opinion of all my Patrons, as I am to you, and continue

Wherof for y^e part, you shall doubt me more, than I believe you are of this, if I am

Sir.
Your most humble and affectionate servant, Ja. Frey

to all of you

Most Reverend Father in God.

I have received two from yo^e Grace, both dated from Doghedah, one of the 8, y^e other of y^e 17th of September last; w^{ch} make me so much yo^e Graces debtour, over & above those obligations, w^{ch} I ought you before, y^t I am like to breake, if payment were to be made at this instant. God knows my heart, & how much it is devoted to yo^e Graces service. my best returne of thanks is the sincerest desire, I have to be worthe of y^e honour yo^e Grace hath done me in this preferment, whereby I am become a member of y^e Church, I long to serve in whilst it continues y^e glorie of y^e best in yo^e Graces person.

What difficulties I shall have to free my selfe here yo^e Grace may easily foresee, being not only engaged to y^e Publick by my place in y^e Universitie; but distracted wth many affairs of mine owne by reason of o^r neighbours desolation in Alsatia & y^e Marquisate of Baden: therefore I most humbly beseeche yo^e Grace to extend yet yo^e favour soe farre, as to graunt me yo^e dispensation for my absence, untill I maye gett off here wth honour, & beginne my iourne of wa^{nt}planting my selfe wth safetie. I doe sollicite y^e same addition of favour of my Lord Deputie, & begg of his O^r. (besides y^e licence of being absent) a letter to our Magistrate in Latine, wherein hee may demand my freedom in such termes, as yo^e Grace maye be pleased to informe & perswade his L^o.

The necessitie of my stay here makes mee thus bold, w^{ch} I humbly begg to bee pardoned of yo^e Grace & excused, where it shall bee thought necessarie.

I will not bee wanting to in any thinge, y^t shall procure my disengagement. & in y^e meane time my studie shall be to render my selfe worthe of my preferment.

Concerning my predecessors widdow, I am very well contented to follow yo^e Graces good counsell, & because M^r Little (my Lord Deputies Secretary) gave me notice of a petition w^{ch} y^e widdow preferred to my Lord Deputie, whose name upon it was, y^t shee should applye her selfe to me, I have referred ^{it} to M^r Littell (who hath taken y^e paines of passing my Patent through all y^e officers) & entreated him to aske a counsell of yo^r Grace, who best knowes, what shall be done in it.

w^{ch} I doe likewise in this; humbly beseeching yo^r Grace to order & dispose of all things, as if I my selfe were there in person, & to prerogate one during my absence for to performe the duties of my place, wth such conditions as yo^r Grace knowes to be requisite.

I have drawne this extract out of a letter from my Cousen Bathier, to whom I have caused to be payd 15^l sterling, whereof I expect his account.

The Historie of y^e Waldenses in Italian, & copied out at Berne for yo^r Grace is all written; but remains yet to be confered wth y^e Original: it holds sixe quires of paper, but I doe not know, if it have y^e Memorials of S^r de vignaut: your Grace shall know by my next, as likewise y^e Charges I shall be at for it.

The remainder of my Comission I have in parte delivered up to my Cousen; y^e rest I shall (god willing) performe my selfe at my returne, w^{ch} I feare will not be this winter moneth, unless my Lord Deputies & yo^r Graces letters procure me a quicker dispatch.

I have not had time yet to oversee o^r Greeke M^s. whereof there is reasonable good store in our universitie library, but hereafter I purpose (god willing) to bestow some time in surveying them.

Amongst w^{ch} if I finde any worthis of yo^r Grace, I shall not fayle to performe my duty. & now commending yo^r Grace to Gods fatherly protection, I most humbly recommend both my selfe & all my affaires to yo^r Graces favour, wth w^{ch} I can never deserve this honour of being

yo^r Graces

P. 5.

If I might obtaine this favour to have leave for the ordering of my affaires here, without y^e prejudice to my place in Ireland, I should lay a greave part of y^e obligation upon some of my kindred, who would resolve to follow me in this way/migration.
 The time of leave to be nominated by y^e Grace: only the longer it is, y^e more leasure I shall have to make a good end of my business here.

Reverendissimi in Christo Patris. Quas R. T. Dignit. pines litteras Illustrissimi, Nobilissimi Do. Do. Richardi, Comitis Concomitatus, Prævoti Hibernicæ, Magistratu nostro Basiliensibus, ad nos quoque pervenisse in præcipuo Domini, quod est Basilia Lauracens, transmissum placuit, non ita pridem accepimus. Quarum lectio nequaquam perturbata, sed, cum sinceram R. T. D. sollicitudinis, & reverentiam in Religionem orthodoxam, atque indubiam benevolentiam ipsarum ubertim cognovissimus, majorum in modum firmis operari. Animadvertimus, quod præmissæ causam M. Jacobum Frey, Ministrum apud nos Ecclesiæ Margarithanæ, qui postquam veritatem primam tum Ecclesiasticam Sacrethei Aulicæ, tum Domestricam Ephori, ab Illustriss. Comite oblatam sibi acceptasset, eorum tamen Matris suæ hanc litterarum offensam incurrit, & cogitationes nostras, quas de ipsius sperato atque promisso ad nos reditu, in transmissum rapuit; conatus fuit, tum per Illustrissimum Prævotum, tum per R. T. D. intercessionem, veniam donum à Magistratu & Ministerio Basiliensibus sua emersione impetrari. Tantum autem abest, Reverendiss. Domini, ut dum & voto M. Frey gratificari, & postulatis Illustriss. Comitis obsequias, in eo ullius à nobis interrogatio nos suspensus haberis, ut potius tuam piam sollicitudinem non possimus satis deprecari humanitatem v. atque benevolentiam operari. Nimirum maxima benevolentia argenti ducimus, in rem nostram Basiliensium, atque operis sancti Symonis, eo haberi apud viros Principes loco, ut dignitas eius atque felicitas cum patria gloria, Ecclesiæ hanc potendo incrementis conjuncta sit possit. Majoris v. momenti id etiam speramus, quod, dum amplam atque plenam ad benefaciendum manum extendis, donum benefaciendi copiam atque licentiam tam sollicitis, ipsam etiam receptis, litteris à nobis afflagitis. Quod si ergo intercessionem tam gravem, à tantis Viris profectam, nullum vel difficilem ducimus bonum, ne vel respectibus judicanda, vel invidiam malignam erga vestrum beneficium, vel denique ingratitude turpissima erga vos tam liberales benefactores crimine indelibile incurramus. Nam si, sicut Plutarchus monuit, οὐκ ἔστι βαρβαριον τι καὶ φεικτικον εἶναι, τὸ περὶ δίδοναι, τὸ μὴ εἶναι ἀρκεῖν εὐφρανῆς καὶ ἠγορεύει; quanta foret turpitudinis, grandia et beneficia apud refractarios excipere! Quam obrem, uti Magistratu nostro ampliss. visum fuit, postulatis vestris non solum assensu, sed et partes Ministrorum Margarithanæ, per benigni petitionis spiritum, prædicto nostro M. Jacobo Frey iustitiam asportare, ita nos quoque favore in eandem sententiam inclinamus, Deum Opt. Mag. precari, ut Spiritu suo bono ipsum gubernet, quo possit in hac laudabili statione, gloria sua ipsius, Ecclesiæ Hibernicæ commendis, nec non soluti illustri ac generosissima utiliter atque feliciter fore. Jactura hanc nobis dissimulandum judicavimus, alia ratione magis conveniente, M. Freyem idem hoc negotium tractare & potius & debuisse. Quam n. By this time I hope yo^r L^{ty} is safely returned to Dublin, having (as I understand by Mr Riches) spent y^e greatest part of y^e last summer in y^e country. If not; I have recommended this to Mr Little for to convey it, being to make my humble addresses to yo^r L^{ty}. & you will be pleased to assure my Lord Deputie of my thankfull & heartie acknowledgments for the honour he hath done me, in being mindfull of his servant at this distance & preferred me to soe eminent a place in the Church of Ireland: wherein what I owe to yo^r L^{ty}'s good opinion & favour, I am not insensible. I beseech you, my Lord, take this assurance from your humble servant; if you have none of yo^r domesticks about yo^r, whom you may comand more freely, then my selfe: and as I am impatient of my stay in these parts, soe doe I begg this favour of yo^r L^{ty} & you will afford me but some little corner in your thoughts, untill I may come neere yo^r L^{ty} and acquitt my selfe of my dutie, both toward the Publique & yo^r L^{ty} in particular. what difficulties I shall have to gett my libertie from hence your L^{ty} may easily foresee, being not onely engaged to the publique by my place in the universitie, but distracted wth many affaires of mine owne by reason of our neighbours desolation in Alsatia, and the Marquisate of Baden: therefore humbly entreate yo^r L^{ty} to move my Lord Deputie, & his L^{ty} would extend his favour, yet soe farre, as to graunt me his leave of absence, untill I may gett off here with honour, & beginne my journey of this transmigration with safety. Besides I am an humble suitor to my L^{ty} Deputie, & his L^{ty} would vouchsafe y^e Magistrate of this towne, to demand my disengagement from hence by a letter: y^e being not onely y^e more honorable but y^e speediest way to procure my freedom here, w^{ch} graunted should make me for ever his and your L^{ty}'s servant.

I am soe confident of my Lord Deputies favour, & yo^r L^{ty}'s love; & I doubt not, but his L^{ty} & yo^r selfe, my Lord, will pardon this boldnesse of mine, wherunto the Necessitie of soe many difficulties dooth oblige me.

During my absence, yo^r L^{ty} will take this & other affaires of mine into your protection, where I shall thinke them safely & well kept, though by reason of my engagement here I could not dispose of them at all.

This enclosed containes y^e state of warre in these partes of y^e world which if your L^{ty} please to communicate wth some of your friends, I beseech you, lett s^r George Radcliff, s^r George Wortworth, y^e Master of y^e Rolls, Master Secretary Manning, & Mr Scotte vouch wth it y^e assurance of my most humble service: wherof could I give yo^r L^{ty} or any of yours a greater testimonie, then an hearty desire of being with yo^r, yo^r L^{ty} should assuredly beleve me to be

A copie of my letter to my Lord, Bishop of Derry dated the 17th of December 1635.

To the right Hon^{ble} John Lrd Bp^{op} of Derry

Right Reverend Father in God.

Yo^r L^{ps} kind letter of y^e 20th of X^{br} last, gives me occasion to renew my humble ~~my humble~~ thanks, which I sent yo^r L^p. from hence y^e last year in a letter recommended to my assured good friend, Mr Littell, the 17th of X^{br}. He having given me notice before of that infinite great favour I ought both my d. d. Deputie and yo^r L^p for preferring me to for great a place in y^e Church, I heartily wish to live & dye in: but such are the continuall troubles and disorders of these parts, by reason of our neighbours pittifull Estate, that I can not yet see, how a whole years time can put a period to the dispatch of my affaires here.
Besides I have to doe with a whole towne & this Universitie of Basell, who will never suffer me to leave this place with content, unless I obtaine it from them by my d. d. Deputies & yo^r L^p. letters in a publick waye.

My mother hitherto having the advantage of my single life kept my Estate in her owne hands according to the Customes of this Republig, & for thought to fasten me I waye, least having cleared my Estate, I should returne for Ireland: at length having mett with a good partie I resolved to free my selfe of that bondage by marrying wth a Gentle woman of this towne, who shall make noe scruple to follow me, wheresoever I goe.

Now having power to dispose of my affaires I beoime to cleave them as fast, as the misfortunes of these times permitt me: and make it my humble request (as I have done formerly) by yo^r L^p. to my Noble d. d. Deputy, that during my absence I may receave noe prejudice in my place, and (if necessary) my in=stallment might be done by a proxiar.

Concerning y^e exchange wth y^e Deane of Clogher I should have wished to differre it till my returne, w^{ch} I hope will soon follow y^e receipt of my d. d. Deputies favourable letter to this Magistrate: howsoever if yo^r L^p. doe thinke it to be for my good, I will totally referre it to your L^{ps} will, for it may be done conveniently in my absence.

In the meane time Mr Rickes having power from me to dispose of my affaires in Ireland, I humbly recomond him & my selfe to yo^r L^{ps} protection: & what favour I meanes I shall have to expresse a most thankfull minde, I humbly submitt them all to yo^r L^{ps} Comands, being.

My L^d.

Yo^r L^p.

My humble & most humble service to all yo^r L^{ps} friends that know me to be yo^r L^{ps} servant.

... the farmers, & how they pay.
The yearly rents of each.

Right honorable, my speciall good Lord.

I would not trouble yo^r L^d. soe often wth my lines, if I were assured of my letters, w^{ch} I sent your L^d. since I returned out of Ireland were safely arriv'd in England: having been frightned with some losses at sea this last winter, I do verily doubt I reciev'd of 2 of my packets, because I never heard of them since.
They contained besides my humble thanks to my L^d. Deputie an acknowledgment of your L^d's favours, by w^{ch} originally I have been thought worthy by my Noble L^d. Deputie, of the place he hath given me in the church of Ireland. And though all my letters had been soe happy, as to escaped the danger of y^e sea; I hope yo^r L^d. will thinke my often writing a testimony of my thankfulness, having at this distance no other means to expresse it otherwise.

My employment here is Arcaic, when I am abroad; but at home I studie my freedoms, which I feare will prove no hard a task for me, unless my L^d. Deputie vouchsafe me his letter to this Senate, w^{ch} I have begged for in my former; to be deli-vered of this place & my affaires here. In the meane time I beseech yo^r my Lord, take y^e opportunitie to recommend it againe to his L^d. when yo^r have occasion to remember my humblest services to my friends in Ireland, & being neare them, I may have y^e more power to serve yo^r L^d.

Worthy s^r

You can not imagine, how I long to heare from you, whether my letter of the 17th of Febr last be safely come to your hands, because it was accompanied wth a greates packet directed to my very good friend Mr Littlell, containing letters of importance to my a. d. Deputie, my a. d. Primate, my a. d. of Derry, my a. d. & La. Dunganaban, & others of my friends there, both to returne my humble thanks for the honour & increase from my a. d. Deputie, & to begg a dispensation of absence for a while, untill I might put a period to my affaires here, w^{ch} by reason of the miseries of our nearest neighbours in Calabria & the marquisate of Baden, will aske at the least a yeares time: & can not free me then from this place, unless my a. d. Deputies noble favour fetch me off by a letter to our magistrats. w^{ch} if you receive, be carefull (I beseech you) to send it by a sure & trusty messenger, recommended to Mr castell. In the meane time, if you have this enclosed to my very good a. d. of Derry, that you may have occasion, to put his a. p. in minde of Mr wilkinson for the sold, & whatsoever else you neede to be informed in concerning my Deary, to advise your selfe to his a. p. & neglect nothing that he shall direct you. To this purpose I have sent you here a Memorandum, entreating you to lett in it, if I may informe my selfe of the value of the Deary of Armach, & in my next give what order I can at this distance, for it.
 I beseech you, s^r have this opinion of me, I noe merchant, shall give you better provision for your paines, then I will, if God send me well over into Ireland. I present my humble service to my a. d. and Lady Dunganaban, & know of them, if your letters above mentioned were safely delivered to them. If his a. p. could let you have some money you know Mr Banly & you selfe would be glad out: excuse me for not writing to them, because this opportunitie was suddaine & I unfurnished wth news. Be confident, I am,

Being to write much in as little a volume as I can possibly, you will be pleased to excuse me, if I take but halfe a sheet to answer your kind letter of the 17th of July last, which came to my hands about eight dayes agoe & brought me the news of what my most Noble Lord Deputy gave me assurance at my departure. I have joynd here severall letters to express my humble & thankfull acknowledgements to my Lord, which I doe likewise in this, & entreate you, Sir, to present my most assurance, & as his Lord hath obliged me to be for ever his; soe doe I lose all patience, till I may have the honour to write upon him & performe what dutie this preferment requires of me. I am here engaged to the publick by a place, I hold in this University, & have besides many intricate affairs of mine owne to dispatche, before I can free my selfe: which will prove the more difficult, & greater inconveniences this Countrey falls into daily, by the ruine & spoyle of our neighbours; My humble request to my Lord is, that his Lord will be pleased to extend his countie yet for some as to dispenche with my absence, & to suffer my installment be done by a prochie, whilst I labour here for my disengagement. whereunto my Lords letter (as being from the Vice-Roy of Ireland & grounded upon this my preferment) to the Magistrate of this Towne would doe exceeding well, as I doe intimate in mine to his Lord. What I may obtaine of my Lord, his Lord's former favour, & your kindness assures me already: & what upon these obligations I owe either my Lord, or you, I am not ignorant I beseech you, Sir, to continue your accustomed favour toward me, & what you have begunne for me in this business, be pleased to accomplish for me, & it will not be ungratefull.

The Deane of Clogher offer I am glad my Lord hath not as yet accepted: the widow I leave to your consideration & my Lord Primats counsell, who knows best of her condition. what during my absence may be received of the tenants, & desire may be paid to you for your charges & the remainder in the first fruits office: wherein Mr. Rickeshe will assist you. The dispensation for my absence I recommend to your favour, & it may be as large, as you love bids me take for. I am exceeding sorrowfull for the loss of my Lord Deputy's letter, which you tell me was sent to Mr. Railton, but I never received: If you write to London, I pray you, enquire for it.

To obey yo^r commands I have send yo^r o^r Basell=newes in Dutch, not that I thought it worthy, either yo^r paines in readinge or mine in ~~in~~ writing, but to lett yo^r see a patterne of obedience and respects to yo^r. Hereafter I hope yo^r will dispence wth mee, if I continue my correspondency only in English, unless there were somethinge worthier both yo^r paines. I have begun^{ne} this weeke to translate the booke of Common prayer out of English into dutch, w^{ch} I make a Sundayes worke, and beinge finished shall send mee, god willing, in my private family; till ye same or some like liturgie may bee used in o^r church. Wee have, god bee thanked, many other prerogatives before oger reformed churches, in which wee come neere the church of England and of late it hath bene the care of o^r worthy Bp. (for soe I call o^r Antistes D^r Zuinger) to introduce a sort forme of Evening prayer evn^{ing} wednesdays and Friday in o^r Cathedrall, w^{ch} a lesson out of the old and new Testament; w^{ch} ~~but~~ they but from the excellency and gravity of the English liturgie) might have bene done in the same or some like maner.

My intent is to show the happynesse of the church of England in all thinges to the most judicious members of this church; and beginning wth yo^r puritie and devotion of their service to god, I hope it will stirre them up to an holy emulation, to confirme themselves both in this and the rest to yo^r of England.

I remember yo^r once had a desire to place some of o^r scholars in your universities, (as the ffrench king allowes some pensions for the maintenance of two scholars out of every Canton yearly) which wthout any charges to yo^r kinge might bee of some consequence in many considerations and would not a little serve to raise o^r Helvetian churches to a neerer resemblance wth yo^r wth of Catholick antiquity, w^{ch} hath yet kept its residence in England.

Perhaps were it propounded now to my Lord of Canterbury, it would not be unreasonable; and if you think it fitt, I would mention somewhat of it, the next time I write to his Grace; who, I know, studies nothing more, then the common good and union of all Christian churches, whatsoeuer opinions may be had of the contrary.

My Books (w^{ch} I bought in England) are yet at Colen and in the low countries, from whence I can not expect any, till wee have peace along the Rhine: some few I have brought along with mee, and because you have put mee in minde of poets, I have sent you foure of severall nations, w^{ch} shall I think it their glorie to be judged by so judicious a Reader.

Epigrammata sacra made by one of Pembrockhall at Cambridge, dedicated to the master of the House, I have like them exceedingly: If you have any other, I shall be glad to see them, and will be both speedy and thankfull in the returne. Could I but imagine to possess any thing, that might be worthy of you, I would let you see, it were yours as much, as his that owes it.

For want of better counsell, w^{ch} hitherto I expected from you upon my letter but in vaine; I was forced to embrace y^e opportunities, w^{ch} this bearer M^r Müller offered me by chance to save both o^r credits. I heard him saye y^e last worke y^e his affaires wou^{ld} cause him to make a journey to Zurich where having use of some monies, he wou^{ld} gladly remitt ^{thither} what he had too much this fayre at Strasburg: whereupon I went to y^e marchand y^e lent us y^e 200 Dollars & will staye no longer for y^e payment, intreated him, to accept of y^e payment y^e M^r Müller wou^{ld} make him at Strasburg: he made some difficulties at first by reason of y^e time being past, but at last accepting of it, gave me occasion to tell M^r Müller I wou^{ld} let him have 200. li. s. d. at Zurich if he wou^{ld} undertake for y^e same summe at Strasburg.
 He pass'd his word to y^e marchand and gave him satisffaction upon this my bill of exchange, w^{ch} I have given him directed to you intreating you by all meanes to see it payd upon sight, y^e neither y^e nor my credit suffer.
 And withall believe this truth, had it been in my power to studie a better waye to give y^e marchand satisfaction, I wou^{ld} have done it, and assured you y^e I am constantly

A song to the tune, I came out of England into France 29

1. The King and his wife of Parliament are parted both in discontent, The cause I cannot know, Fools say, the fates brought it about, Knaves say, the husband is too stout, Some say of wife's a show.

2. Unto of later I give not name But it is just they bear of blame, They shall be stiled mad;
For who, but such would think a spouse That hath as many wits as browes Would, ^{not} prove halfe so bad.

3. Fault with of fates let not man find, Let now dare say the King's unkind, He scornis to be so poore, Unless of Parliament his wife Hath given him any cause of strife By playing of of whoore.

4. Which sure she hath, if it be true That shee of late hath had to doe, With England's wanton Duke, But as I better call to mind, Shee did quite in another kind Salute his curle peruke.

5. Soe as if either maye have blame, T'is he, who thought to strike her fame,
By rape committed on her;
For he did strive with all his might To robbe her of her auncient right, And of is this wives honnour.

But's will; he of his ends did fail,
And that shoe nere turn'd up her tail To him, unless to life:
As she will doe to all his faction,
Who were the cause of y^e distraction That hindered Union's bliss. "or England's"

7.

An act sprung from a blacker falsehood Than that, which hill pour'd in y^e weeds Whom we call Guido faukes, who if he fired had his wrists Of sulphur standing on better trifles In his sepulchrall walkes,

Could nere have soe dispers'd our state, Nor opened Spaine's soe wide a gate, As hath his gracelesse grace:
For till time comes, which is at hand That all speak spanish in our land We are bound to curse his face.

And yet I give we need not doe it, For France hath sent one to undoe it, Her countryman y^e foxe;
A hungry Monsieur, y^e will eat His joints fast cur'd of arie sweate That "Pois" great art unlockes.

10.

But yet as long as they can last, Saye what we will, his foot is fast,
The King will nere rebuke him:
But loves him dearly, for in case He would withdrawe from him his grace, He knowes he ^{must} ~~cannot~~ undoe him.

Which he may not, unless he make Him lower by the head, and shake The rest of y^e lew'd factions;

A thing to which he'll more consent How our Parliament are bent To purge of putrefaction.

12. What cares the King to urge the house, For's people what cares he; a louse;
For kingdoms transitorie Don Fridrico maye haue these,
But he'll to heauen and take his ease To raigne in lasting glorie.

13. Meane time he'll giue them to his Minion, A prettie toy; his whole dominion, I will giue his wife for pinnes.

Then Turner, Eliot, and Diggs Shall stungd be like whirleygoss And suffer for their sinnes.

14. But those that with y^e Dukes combined, Shall from base metall be refined,
To shine like rotten wood;
At midnight in a darkefome night Noi deuill shall appere soe bright In shapes of Angels good.

15. Then shall th' effeminate Hollands Count, Vild-sworne all England's Lords surmount; Then y^e Northumberland girle Shall cease repining, that shee stoop'd To wed a man, whose fortunes droop'd The braue Carlislean Earle.

16. For he on Embassies shall goe Iff be but to prevent our foe Of finding monie here;
For else when all the lead is lackt Perhaps our bodies might be rackt, To tell them where it were.

Vas tuas humanitatis atq; Audy non mediocri plenitudine mihi gratias sine literas ad me datas, accepi, non absq; singulari laetitia affectus perlegi, in quibus te mirari quodammodo ostendi civitatem literarum mearum.
Et Quamquam veteri nostra amicitia minime putaret, quod scribendi officium jam diu tibi debitum intermiserim, et serius nunc quodammodo ad te, quam oportuerat, scribam, proleptim provocatus a te amantissime et officiosissime literis, quas ad me jam pridem dedisti, spero tamen, Te ipsas ejus rei veniam mihi facile daturum, cum, quae tam sicutum silentij causa fuerit, cognoveris, tam quod nihil novarum rerum auribus tuis signarum, scaberim, tum quod publicis occupationibus aliquandiu distractus faciam, non mediocri est argumento. Ut sit, licet inter nos aliquanabuti tibi videer, differre amplius nobis, quin breves haec ad te darem literas, ex quibus nullum unquam tempus ac diem intermisse me cognoscas, quin tui semper in meliorem partem meminerim. portulata enim hoc amor erga Te meus, et illa tua nulli meis officiis provocata benevolentia, qua perpetuo obversatur animo meo, et interdum quiescere me non sinit, quomodo infigne aliquid omnium vestrum causa facere possim, cogitantem, quod si tamen ad aliquanda in me beneficia facultas mihi desit, voluntatem deesse, rem arbitrabitur.

I do assure you that I can find it appears under your hand. If you had known the meaning of should not have done it. I am sorry out in this respect for you. I cannot receive a penny towards it. I will not speak to my Lord Bingham as you would have for the 1000. I in regard if you had or did him to pay it to the other. I can not bring you off your burden. He told me that Lord Bingham will pay it. The Lord Deputy is not in the country in the manner to force to Lancians to what times of banishment of July and is expected now. Last of this month. I will be careful of your business, but would not will give too long to wait out of advice of my Bishop of Exeter to whom I will address my wife at his coming to Rowen my Lord of Exeter business in Star Chamber comes to a marriage of which I am sure it is promissory

I received your letter of the 22 March & am long since to my the same when it came to me in place of good to me as the so that I have not delivered your copy to my dear hand saw to Bishop of Down but I have promised my friend in the name of my to deliver it and to all to speak to him about your withdrawal English and Spanish that he would be very anxious to recover for you from the Lord Deputy to the Lord answer and that the was not done. But that the parliament was expressed of the making and that he should give you an order as you desire to go with the time the Bishop going out of the County of the same as the same time being continued all Sirry I have said Richard's friend and being you hope he will have done to do that I might have spoken the same to the Lord to some purpose but cannot get it done. Particularly it is his great hope that you of a marriage between it was never such a time as he is desired party. But Richard's friend cannot get opinion of Murray from your friend Morgan I have but I will follow your direction to have my Lord of Down to deliver your letter to my Lord of Douglas you of Down away to your Lord's house it should be what you wrote me of your satisfaction that if you had range of it might have done for you so much you would not have needed it if I do assure you of God's will a further loss than I did always you get you make a word under the hand I would I had known your meaning I would not have done it I am out in disbursements for you I cannot recover a penny towards it I have not spoken to my Lord of Douglas for the 12th as you ordered me in regard you have ordered him to pay it to others if you get not him yet of that I am sure he will pay my Lord of Douglas my part of the Lord Deputy is now in his progress in Down to settle the plantation near the beginning of July and is expected the 1st of the month I will be there in your house but would not will by do anything there the Bishop of Down to whom I have done my best all his coming to Down my Lord of Down's business in the State of Down comes to Down the next day and so comfortably than appointed what further I have in your or at your house or I will advise you

Dublin 17 June 1635

The above mentioned is copy of my last to you I do not know if you have received none from you. I will have done with this coming to you. I have done to tell me how far you have been yet and to wish you a great deal of happiness of you of Down and so it is late and I do hope to be able to you a copy of some of the same which as I have said about 14 days since. I shall be glad you have good occasion to have you to be able to go and see how to us since my and I cannot receive it from you. I cannot Morgan's I cannot and it is but a day's journey from you. I have said

W. James Grey

Dublin the 6 August 1635

I received your letter of the 22 March & am long since to my self when it came to me in great good to see that the Bishop of Downe was desired your grace by my good friend to deliver it and to see to speak to him about your withdrawal of his and to assure that he would be very ready to receive from the Lord Deputy to his grace answer for any that the was not of his. But that the parliament was dissolved the Bishop and that he should give you an answer as you desired to do with the Bishop going out of the County that would be but little to be done continually all day I have found that I might have spoken with him to do so some purpose but cannot get it done. It is his great heart desire to withdraw himself it was never such a matter as he is of any. But for that I cannot get opinion of money from your grace I have I have but I will follow your direction to have my lord of Downe to give your letters to my lord of Downe son of Hanover away to him. I have not what you wrote me of your satisfaction that if you had rather in words have done so much you would not have minded it if I do as now you do not a farthing for that I do not make a word under the hand of word I had known your manner of words not have done it in the out in disbursement for you I cannot receive a penny towards it I will not speak to my lord of Downe for the 12th as you ordered me in regard you have ordered by you to pay it to others if you get not him yet of that I understand he takes me my lord of Downe pay it the 12th Deputy is now in his regard in Downe to see the clamorous went into the beginning of July and is expected the 1st of the month I will be careful in your behalf but would not will to do any thing without the Bishop of Downe to whom I will deliver my self at his coming to Downe. My lord of Downe in the start of Downe comes to Downe the next day comfortably then appointed what further favour in your or at will have or if will advise you

I have above mentioned is copy of my last to the Lord of Downe to give you the law returned from you. We will have city, this brings to give Downe to his no least from my roshan little and to wish you a great deal of happiness of your of Downe to do it late & based you to Downe to be the you after the date of Downe to see as I wonder from
 to give you the law for your own sake to us. Give my love to your grace from your servant Morgan James avez sont differents, sy vous desirez un assortiment de salle, il vous y fait une douzaine de chaire toute d'une lince ceste a dire toute d'une sorte, ou du moins six de chaque fasson, il se garnit icy des chaires toutes, d'un assortiment de cillies (semblables a un des patrons que ie vous ay mandez) qui ne sont que de six racarab, a nuance, et de trois vent de mer, il sen fait ausy au mesme patron, de toute couleurs, meslee ass: une cilliet d'une couleur l'autre d'un autre, se sont les plus nouvelles modes que nous ayons l'une, et l'autre fasson sont fort agreable, ie ne vous les scaurois sy bien représenter, mais sy vous desirez que ie vous en fasse faire une entiere, et mesme monter, parce que c'est a peine trouvez vous contre pointier qui vous puisse bien servir sans en voir le patron, ie vous la feris expedier, et l'auriez bien tost, pour une tapisserie ie vous prie de me voyer par un fillet la hauteur que vous la desirez, et combien d'auce d'ampleur, car il est facheux de les avoir trop longues ou trop courtes, ie ne den rencontrer une belle pour le prix que me mandez mais elle ne sera que chuerigne, toute fois a grands person-

Monsieur mon Cousin

J'ay receu le paquet qui vous a plu m'adresser ensemble les beaux-lettres desquels ie vous remercie tres-humblement, pour le paquet de Mr Saladin ie le luy ay envoyé à Marseille la ou il est allé, et sil ne se trouve Lon me doit renvoyer ledit paquet, ie crois bien qu'il ne se arrrestera pas beaucoup, et qu'il sera contraint de passer en Italie par le Piemont, et non par mer comme ils croyoit, accause de ses armes, qui sont dans la province, Il y a 8. ou 10. iours que Lon a heeu nouvelles qu'ils estoit arrivé dans ces illes (que l'Espagnol y tient) au confort de 14. vaisseaux, et six galeres Lon n'entent autre nouvelles de par le ça sinon celle qui porte tous les iours les gentilshommes de l'arrière ban, qui se retirent tous desualisés (au moins ceux qui estoit en l'armée de Flandres et ceux qui estoit avec le Cardinal de la Vallette) ceux qui y estoit allé avec 7. ou 8. chevans, se retirent avec une meschante aridelle, tout est en pauvre estast les marchants ne font rien tous les iours Lon les charge de subsides, et imposte, aussy a tous les payemens ils se fait quantité de banqueroute, d'importance Je croy que vous aurez receu vostre cartelas, lequel iay adressé à Mr Clot à Solleure, n'ayant peu trouvé commodité de l'envoyer droit à brasle, le mulletier ny passant pas, est le Haroy vous baise les mains, et moy ie vous prie me tenir toujours.

 extrêmement chere, ils le vouloit vendre 3. # 4. #. et cette piece neust esté suffisante, de faire 30. marches de Lyuire.
 Si vous desirez den avoir, et que vous ayez moyen, l'attente nous venant de Paris, au plus tost, nous attendrons votre retour, pour le matelas de que ie seray leue couché, ie vous en feray faire un bon, et vous l'enverray au plus tost Dieu aidant. Je croy qu'avez receu un petit paquet de lettres, de mon frere desquelles ie vous enverray il y a quelques semaines, et celle est, ie vous prie de le luy escrire par ce quil en est en peine, et puis quey ie continue a vous desisté à pnt de vous molester dauantage, & vous prie seulement de donner ordre exprès à Mr. Castel, qu'il mette en execution ce que vous auer volonté qu'on face des deux coffres, qu'il a entre ses mains, & qu'il me remette ce que vous m'auer ottoyé en prenant un inventaire & que le reste vous soit enuoyé par la voye d'Amstredam ou Souloyne comé vous m'auer mandé; car sans cela il nen voudra rien faire, & y a des choses dans les coffres qui se gâtent & pourrissent par faute de les ouuir;

J'ay receu une lettre d'Irlande laquelle concerne le compte de feu Mr. Frey, que ie vous enuoye icy, par laquelle vous verrez en quel estat sont ces affaires, ie vous enuoye aussy la copie du compte que i'auoye enuoyé à Mr. Riches; sa lettre respond sur les articles d'iceluy; & vous trouueres bien quelqu'un qui vous seruira d'interprete. Je feray mon possible de procurer le payement de d'iceluy; ce qui auoit ia esté fait, n'eust esté ceste Ambassade qui dure plus CVI.

Kein Verstandes, oder dass sie die Seligkeit nachher nicht gleich gütlich man geln, soll in die Ehe treten, dessen er ein weisbild fürden, das ihu zu Sigrathen willig, wie ich.

CVII.

Keine Witib soll Selig sein Verheiratet, bis 6. Monat nach ihres Mannes Tod verstorben, oder davor abgestorben, so sagt den 1. Cap. Das ist selbts beside ligkeit wende.

CVIII.

Weder einen Witib was betrafft, obwohl sie ihu nicht zu besorgen, was sie einer Witib zu besorgen schick, soll ein selbts doch auch eine gelie werden. Sind aber es er in eine andere Ehe tritt, schick sie über Argernis, so die Pflicht, thut sie zu Sigrathen, das er Gottes Ehre nicht verachtet sein.

CIX.

Keine Braut von 40. Jahren und nicht darüber, soll keinen Mann nehmen, der mehr als 20. Jahr jünger sei, als sie. Ist sie aber über 40. Jahr, soll der Mann ein Jüngerer 5. Jahr jünger sein.

CX.

Ein Mann, der über 60. Jahr alt ist, soll keine Tochter oder Braut nehmen, die mehr als 10. Jahr jünger sein sollte, als er selbst ist.

CXI.

Weder eine mit einer anderen Weib in Ehe tritt, und selbts ein Weib was soll ihu nicht mehr getraut sein, so die Sigrathen, davor nicht argernis, und auch er Verheiratet darauß zu sein.

CXII.

In Ehe nicht selbts lassen soll niemand erlauben sein, als wenn so der Ehegatt Religion Sigrathen, oder so sie in Ehe tritt, das selbts Verlassen, und auch Vor dem Consistorio, oder in der Kirche vor der Sigrathen, ihre Ehegatt bezeugen abgelegt. Solange sie nicht anders verheiratet, sollen auch Ehegatt nicht und nichtig sein, und die Ehegatt nicht davon so sehr gelassen, aber davon geübt, nach Befehdung der Ehe abgebrach werden.

Chap. IV.

De gradibus consanguinitatis.

CXIII.

In gradibus consanguinitatis soll kein Vater seine Tochter, keine Mutter ihren Sohn Sigrathen, und nicht gemein in grad auf. Und absteigender Linie gar keine Ehe gemacht werden, man soll alle Natural. Erblichkeit zu wider laufft, und so wol in Gottes Gesetz, als in weltl. Recht verboten ist.

CXIV.

Keine Ehe soll nicht in einem Sigrath. Onkel und Niece oder deren Tochter, Tante und Neveu oder deren Sohn, und vice versa. Son der Onkel representirt den Vater, und die Tante representirt die Mutter.

CXV.

In gleichem Linie Kinder und Nichten, sie wären gleich groß, aber nicht selbts Sigrathen.

CXVI.

Alle übrigen gradus der Verwandtschaft betreffend, obwohl in der selbigen Meinung Gesetz die Ehe nicht verboten, davor gleichwol selbts Verheiratung eines Grades, so lange die nicht nichtig gemacht, keine Argernis, noch um ihu nicht willig, so wol geliebt wird, so Ordnung wie, das unter Verstandes, davor keine gelten soll, bis davon Befehdung mit der Ehe andere Verordnungen von uns befohlen.

Chap. V.

De gradibus spiritualibus.

Keine Ehe soll die Ehegatt nicht selbts oder Großvater. In gleichem Linie den Vater ihu Tochter oder Großvater Sigrathen, noch sonst in absteigender gradus Linie.
