

Contents

The editor and contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Section 1 Overview: information policy and the market	1
1 Hospitals in the market	3
Ray Robinson
2 Information policy in the National Health Service	16
Justin Keen
Section 2 The practitioner perspective	29
3 Operational systems	31
Wally Gowing
4 Managing development: developing managers' information management	50
Andy Kennedy
5 Clinical management	63
Mark Harrison, Margaret Marion and Andrew Brooks
6 Nursing information	74
Rebecca Malby and Jane Clayton
7 Contracts: managing the external environment	88
John James
Section 3 The academic perspective	105
8 Information for purchasing	107
James Raftery and Andrew Stevens

vi Contents

9	The politics of information Justin Keen	124
10	A social science perspective on information systems in the NHS Brian Bloomfield, Rod Coombs and Jenny Owen	135
11	Information and IT strategy Bob Galliers	147
12	Evaluation: informing the future, not living in the past Justin Keen	171
13	IT futures in the NHS Mike Smith	184
	Index	199