

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	9
Historical background	9
Central planning and regional development	13
1. THE LEGACY OF CENTRAL PLANNING	15
2. THE REGIONAL ORGANISATION OF THE CZECH REPUBLIC AND THE SLOVAK REPUBLIC	19
3. REGIONAL PROBLEMS AT THE END OF COMMUNIST RULE	25
Regional disparities	25
4. THE TRANSITION PERIOD FROM 1989 TO 1992: THE MOVE TOWARDS DEFEDERATION	31
Changing spatial relations	35
5. REGIONAL PROBLEMS AND POLICIES IN THE SLOVAK REPUBLIC	37
Introduction	37
Regions and transportation	42
The settlement system	44
Minorities	47
Agriculture	47
The environment	48
Regional problems	53
Regional policies	57
Problem regions 1: The Čadca district, a hinterland severed from its centre	60
Problem regions 2: Košice and the steel industry	61
Problem regions 3: The Martin district and the armaments industry	64
Problem regions 4: Bratislava, a two-tier economy?	71
Regional prospects	73
6. REGIONAL PROBLEMS AND POLICIES IN THE SLOVAK REPUBLIC: AN UPDATE	75
7. REGIONAL PROBLEMS AND POLICIES IN THE CZECH REPUBLIC	81
Regions and transportation	81
The settlement system	83

Environmental problems	85
Regional problems, 1990-1992	94
Regional policies, 1992-1993	101
Regionalisation from below	104
Problem regions	107
1. Most	107
2. Ostrava	110
3. Rožnov-pod-Radhoštěm	116
4. Prague	118
5. Brno	121
8. REGIONAL PROBLEMS AND POLICIES IN THE CZECH REPUBLIC: AN UPDATE	127
The environment	130
Unemployment	131
Border regions	141
9. CONCLUSION	145
The Slovak Republic: regional policy	147
The Czech Republic: regional policy and "civil society"	148
Cities as enterprises: creating a management revolution	151
Is too much regionalism bad?	153
Regional policy or no regional policy?	153
Barriers to regional policy formation	156
Regionalisation and regional policies	160
Knowledge and specialist expertise	162
NOTES	171

LIST OF FIGURES

1 Okres and Kraj boundaries, 1989	20
2 Leading cities in the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic	21
3 Pollution in the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic	29
4 Variations in life-spans in the okres of the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic	29
5 Unemployment in the Slovak Republic, February 1992	38
6 The land-forms of the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic	43
7 Population density in the Slovak Republic	45
8 Distribution of the Hungarian minority in the Slovak Republic by okres	47
9 Troubled okres in the Slovak Republic which were oriented towards Soviet industries or had high rates of population increase, 1990	54
10 Districts with the most fragile and stressed environment, Slovak Republic, 1990	54
11 Areas of high air pollution, Slovak Republic, 1990	55
12 Most severely polluted cities and areas in the Slovak Republic, 1990	55
13 Assessment of the prospects of industrial enterprises in different okres, 1990	56
14 Pollution in the Most/Northern Bohemian brown coal region, 1991	88
15 Pollution in the Ostrava region, 1991	92
16 Air-borne dust pollution in the Prague region, 1991	93