

CONTENTS

List of Plates	xi
Introduction	I
PART I. DEATH AND DYING
1. The Evangelical Ideal of the 'Good Death'	17
2. The Revival and Decline of the Good Christian Death	39
3. Bad Deaths, Sudden Deaths, and Suicides	59
4. Death and the Victorian Doctors	77
5. Nurses, Consultants, and Terminal Prognoses	98
6. 'That Little Company of Angels': The Tragedies of Children's Deaths	119
7. Death in Old Age	143
8. In Search of the Good Death: Death in the Gladstone and Lyttelton Families 1835-1915	161
PART II. GRIEF AND MOURNING
Introduction to Part II	193
9. Funeral Reform and the Cremation Debate	194
10. The Funeral Week	210
11. Widows: Gendered Experiences of Widowhood	230
12. Widowers: Gendered Experiences of Widowhood	251
13. Christian Consolations and Heavenly Reunions	265
14. The Consolations of Memory	284
15. Rituals of Sorrow: Mourning-Dress and Condolence Letters	300
16. Chronic and Abnormal Grief: Queen Victoria, Lady Frederick Cavendish, and Emma Haden	318
17. 'A Solitude beyond the Reach of God or Man': Victorian Agnostics and Death	339
18. Epilogue. After the Victorians: Social Memory, Spiritualism, and the Great War	358
Notes	382
Location of Manuscript Collections	443
Index	447