

CONTENTS

Foreword	3
Contributors	9
Abbreviations	11
 Chapter 1
Introduction: Regulatory Reform, Market Access and International Market Contestability: An Analytical Framework
by Akira Kawamoto	15
 PART I
ESTABLISHING THE CASE FOR MARKET ACCESS-ORIENTED REGULATORY REFORM	27
 Section A
Political economy of regulatory reform	29
Chapter 2
Regulatory Reform as International Policy
by Roger G. Noll	31
Chapter 3
The Benefits of Regulatory Reform
by Robert A. Rogowsky	43
Chapter 4
The Political Economy of Regulatory Reform: The Role for International Co-operation
Remarks by Merit E. Janow	55
Chapter 5
Regulatory Reform: Some Approaches from a European Perspective
Remarks by Bernhard Molitor	59
Chapter 6
Korea's Experience with Regulatory Reform
Remarks by Do Hoon Kim	63
Chapter 7
Advances in Mexico's Deregulation Programme
Remarks by Benjamin Contreras	67
 Section B
Assessing experiences with regulatory barriers and their reform	75
Chapter 8
Regulatory Reform and the Internal Market
by Damien J. Neven	77
Chapter 9
Regulatory Reform: An Experience of the Japanese Distribution System
by Motoshige Itoh	93

PART II	THE SEARCH FOR INTERNATIONAL MECHANISMS TO PROMOTE REFORMS	113
Section A	Assessing existing multilateral rules and regional arrangements	115
Chapter 10	Increasing Market Access under Regulatory Heterogeneity: The Strategies of the World Trade Organisation by Frieder Roessler	117
Chapter 11	Eliminating Barriers to Trade in Telecommunications and Information Technology Goods and Services: Next Steps in Multilateral and Regional Liberalisation Efforts by John Sullivan Wilson	131
Chapter 12	The Trans-Atlantic Business Dialogue: A New Paradigm for Standards and Regulatory Reform, Sector by Sector Remarks by Paula Stern.....	155
Chapter 13	Comments on Roessler and Wilson Papers Remarks by Robert Howse	165
Section B	How to make mutual recognition of regulatory regimes workable and effective	169
Chapter 14	Mutual Recognition of Regulatory Regimes: Some Lessons and Prospects by Kalypso Nicolaidis.....	171
Chapter 15	Mutual Recognition: Structure, Problems and Prospects by David W. Leebron.....	205
Chapter 16	Mutual Recognition Agreements: Some Key Issues for Consideration Remarks by John A. Clarke	221
Chapter 17	Regulatory Reform in the Car Industry Remarks by Raymond Guasco.....	225
PART III	POLICY INTERACTION	229
Chapter 18	Global Access to Deregulated Markets in Asia: Is Competition Policy the Key? by Veronica Taylor	233
Chapter 19	The Complementary Relationship between Trade Policy and Competition Policy by R. Shyam Khemani	249
Chapter 20	Use of Competition Policy to Facilitate Market Access in Relation to Regulatory Reform Remarks by Arthur Pryor	259

Chapter 21	Comments on Taylor and Khemani Papers Remarks by Nicos M. Christodoulakis	261
PART IV	OVERALL ASSESSMENT	263
Chapter 22	The Impact of National Regulations on Market Access Remarks by Ken-ichi Kawasaki.....	265
Chapter 23	Regulatory Reform and Market Openness: An Overview by Geza Feketekuty.....	269
Chapter 24	Summary of Discussions: Regulatory Reform and International Market Openness by Daniel Rowland	283
ANNEX	List of Speakers and Discussants	291