

Contents

Introduction	I
1 Indeterminacy of French Interpretation: Derrida and Davidson	15
2 The Extension of Deconstruction	36
3 Truth Conditions, Rhetoric, and Logical Form: Davidson and Deconstruction	56
4 Davidson, Derrida, and Knapp and Michaels on Intentions in Interpretation	73
5 Metaphor According to Davidson and de Man	88
6 True Figures: Metaphor and the Sorites	116
7 A Rabbinic Philosophy of Language	137
8 Deconstruction, Cleanth Brooks, and Self-Reference	147
9 A Deconstructive Wittgenstein: On Henry Staten's Wittgenstein and Derrida	180
10 Wittgenstein as Conservative Deconstructor	197

viii Contents

II	Deconstructed Distinctions Are OK	216
12	Derrida's Differance and Plato's Different	231
	Notes	249
	Works Cited	277
	Index	283