

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	xi
1 The Foucauldian Lens of Power Decolonized	1
2 A Postcolonial Approach to Indigenous Filmmaking in North America	17
Basic Concepts of Postcolonialism	18
Postcolonial Theory and its Criticism	22
Postcolonial Conditions in North America	30
Key Concepts of Postcolonial Theory	35
Postcolonialism and Film Analysis	50
The Development of Fourth World Film	54
Strategies of Postcolonial Filmmaking	68
Postcolonial Language Use	75
3 Oral Tradition as Reflected in Film	83
Connections Between Oral Tradition and Film	83
Oral Tradition	85
Filming Oral Tradition	96
Filmmakers Talk About the Relationship Between         the Media of Oral Tradition and Film	107
The Road Allowance People	119
Dramatizing Community Storytelling	120
Circular Structure and Color Symbolism         as Stylistic Devices	130
A Métis Vernacular	131
Final Remarks	132

Itam Hakim, Hopiit	134
Hopi Myths and Stories in Film	136
Translated Slowness as Stylistic Device	146
A Hopi Voice and Sound	156
Genre Discussions	159
Final Remarks	167
4 Short Films	171
Talker	171
Tenacity	186
Overweight With Crooked Teeth	192
— FIGURES	after page 206
5 Dramatic Films	207
Honey Moccasin	208
The Parody of Detective Stories as Digressive Narrative	209
Disrupting Western Clichés	215
Cinematic Dialogue With Hollywood	221
Oral Tradition and Indigenous Television	224
Feathers, Inukshuk, and Other Cinematic Motifs	227
Cinematic Postmodernism: Performance and Film Screening as Extrafilmic Elements	231
Final Remarks	234
Smoke Signals	237
"Fire and Smoke": A Narrative of Loss	239
The Road Movie as Circular and Linear Narrative	242
Disrupting Western Clichés	250
Cinematic Dialogue With Hollywood	255
Roads, Movement, and Other Cinematic Motifs	262
Magic Cuts and Sound Bridges as Stylistic Devices	270
Final Remarks	281
Big Bear	284
The Cree Approach	285
Cree Historicity as Circular and Linear Narrative	288
Inverting the Hollywood Language Model	291
Cinematic Historicity: Cree-Canadian History and Cree Culture	296
The Father-Son Conflict	301
Hunger, Rope, and Other Cinematic Motifs	305

Slowness and Movement as Stylistic Devices		308
Final Remarks		313
Atanarjuat: The Fast Runner		314
The Inuit Approach		317
Cinematic Dialogue With Flaherty		320
Translating Oral Tradition into Film		331
Arctic Colors, Movement, and Other
Cinematic Motifs		337
The Film Atanarjuat as Electronic Mythtelling		340
Final Remarks		346
Conclusion		349
Works Cited		359
Filmography		380
Internet Sources		384
Appendix		387
Glossary		387
Sequence Protocols and Detailed Shot Analyses		395
1. Itam Hakim, Hopiit		395
2. Talker		409
3. Honey Moccasin		418
4. Smoke Signals		419
5. Big Bear		432
6. Atanarjuat: The Fast Runner		450
Poems		465
Michael Doxtater, "Overweight With Crooked Teeth"		466
Daniel David Moses, "Inukshuk"		467
Dick Lourie, "Forgiving Our Fathers"		469
Index		471