Duane J. Gubler	43
------------------------------	----

The health impact of climate change and the role of epidemiology in the WHO
South-East Asia Region

J.A. Kumaresan, J.M. Lapitan and G. Sanchez Martinez	49
-------------------------------------------------------------------	----

Research to policy: walking on a bumpy road

Translating data into information for policy formulation and implementation:
experience from SARS outbreak

Hitoshi Oshitani	55
-------------------------------	----

Research and policy interface

Ulysses Panisset	59
-------------------------------	----

MDGs and epidemiology

Monitoring progress towards the achievement of health-related MDGs: are we in line with principles of epidemiology?

Sunil Senanayake	65
-------------------------------	----

Social determinants of health, MDGs and epidemiology: understanding and addressing health inequities U Than Sein	71
MDGs 4 and 5: the challenge of reducing maternal and child mortality Vinod K. Paul	75
Epidemiology for the future: challenges and opportunities
Methods and application of molecular epidemiology and modelling in disease control Masato Toshio	83
Application of GIS in monitoring drug resistance Pratap Singhasivanon	90
The future of epidemiology: how is our science changing? Ann Marie Kimball, Cyan R. James and Danny Colombara	95
Towards universal childhood immunization: why we must do and how we might? Stanley I. Music	99
Human resources in epidemiology and capacity building
Human resource development for health research and capacity building: experience from Epidemiology Unit, Prince of Songkla University, Thailand Virasakdi Chongsuvivatwong	107
Human resources for epidemiology and capacity building: role of medical schools Kapil Yadav, Baridalyne Nongkynrih, Anand Krishnan and Chandrakant S. Pandav	111
