

Contents

List of contributors	ix
Acknowledgments	xii
A note to readers	xv
 Introduction	 1
Celia Chazelle, Simon Doubleday, Felice Lifshitz, and Amy G. Remensnyder
 1 Crime and punishment: Penalizing without prisons	 15
Celia Chazelle
 2 Social deviancy: A medieval approach	 29
G. Geltner
 3 End of life: Listening to the monks of Cluny	 41
Frederick S. Paxton
 4 Marriage: Medieval couples and the uses of tradition	 54
Ruth Mazo Karras
 5 Women: The Da Vinci Code and the fabrication of tradition	 66
Felice Lifshitz
 6 Homosexuality: Augustine and the Christian closet	 77
Mathew Kuefler

7	Sexual scandal and the clergy: A medieval blueprint for disaster Dyan Elliott	90
8	Labor: Insights from a medieval monastery Martha G. Newman	106
9	Disability?: Perspectives on bodily difference from the Middle East Kristina Richardson	121
10	Race: What the bookstore hid Maghan Keita	130
11	Refugees: Views from thirteenth-century France Megan Cassidy-Welch	141
12	Torture and truth: Torquemada's ghost Amy G. Remensnyder	154
13	Class justice: Why we need a Wat Tyler Day Peter Linebaugh	169
14	Leadership: Why we have mirrors for princes but none for presidents Geoffrey Koziol	183
	Index	199