Contents

List of figures
ix

Notes on contributors
vii

Introduction: A small state on the global scene
RUUD VAN DIJK, SAMUËL KRUIZINGA, VINCENT KUIJTENBRÖUWER AND RIMKO VAN DER MAAR
1

1 National interest versus common interest: The Netherlands and the liberalization of Rhine navigation at the Congress of Vienna (1814–1815)
JOEPSCHENK
13

2 Algiers burning: The United Kingdom of the Netherlands and the post-Napoleonic European order of peace and security
ERIK DE LANGE
32

3 Joining the international war against anarchism: The Dutch police and its push towards transnational cooperation, 1880–1914
BEATRICE DE GRAAF AND WOUTER KLEM
56

4 ‘You act too much as a journalist and too little as a diplomat’: Pieter Geyl, the National Bureau for Documentation on the Netherlands and Dutch public diplomacy, 1919–1935
PELLE VAN DIJK
80

5 Between the League of Nations and Europe: Multiple internationalisms and interwar Dutch civil society
ANNE-ISABELLE RICHARD
97
Contents

6 Rethinking small state security: Dutch alignment in the 1940s compared to Swedish neutrality 117
SUSANNA ERLANDSSON

7 Expropriating American power: Dutch clientelism and the East Indies crises, 1941–1948 140
DAVID J. SNYDER

BOYD VAN DIJK

9 Attracted and repelled: Transnational relations between civil society and the state in the history of the fair trade movement since the 1960s 183
PETER VAN DAM

10 Joop den Uyl, the emergence of the European Council and the expanding role of the prime minister in Dutch foreign policy, 1973–1977 201
JAN-WILLEMM BROUWER

11 Taking stock of a ‘Ruslandganger’: Ernst H. van Eeghen, De Burght Foundation, and private diplomacy in East–West relations during the 1980s and 1990s 223
GILES SCOTT-SMITH

Conclusions and outlook: Small states on the global scene 240
RUUD VAN DIJK, SAMUEL KRUIZINGA, VINCENT KUITENBROUWER AND RIMKO VAN DER MAAR

Index 245