

Contents

Introduction: The Knowing Most Worth Doing 1

WALTER JOST

PART ONE | The Challenge of Pluralism

1. Do Reasons Matter in Criticism? Or, Many Meanings, Many Modes 23
2. Pluralism in the Classroom 47
3. The Possibilities of Pluralism 60

PART TWO | Discerning Character in Criticism

4. Are Narrative Choices Subject to Ethical Criticism? 69
5. Literary Criticism and the Pursuit of Character 90
6. Why Banning Ethical Criticism Is a Serious Mistake 102
7. The Struggle to Tell the Story of the Struggle to Get a Story Told 124
8. The Ethics of Medicine—as Revealed in Literature 137

PART THREE | Rhetoric and the Claim of Religion

9. Rhetoric and Religion: Are They Essentially Wedded? 153
10. Where Is the Authorial Audience in Biblical Narrative—and in Other “Authoritative” Texts? 171
11. Systematic Wonder: The Rhetoric of Secular Religions 191