List of Illustrations
Acknowledgments

Introduction
Changing Conceptions of the Fat Body in Western History
Elena Levy-Navarro

Section One • Foundations
1 Fat Is a Fictional Issue: The Novel and the Rise of Weight-Watching
Pat Rogers

Section Two • Fat and Empire
2 "Kill the Pig!": Lord of the Flies, "Piggy," and Anti-Fat Discourse
Zeynep Z. Atayurt
3 "The Fattest Clubman in London": H. G. Wells's "The Truth about Pyecraft" and the Culture of Reducing in England at the Turn of the Twentieth Century
Nikole King
4 Fosco's Fat Drag: Performing the Victorian Fat Man in Wilkie Collins's The Woman in White
Joyce L. Huff

Section Three • Fat, Class, and Culture
5 "As Horace Fat" in a Thin Land: Ben Jonson's Experience and Strategy
Anne Brumley
6 American Excess: Cultural Representations of Lillian Russell in Turn-of-the-Century America
   Cookie Woolner 129
7 Greedy Bastards: Fat Kids, Class War, and the Ideology of Classlessness
   Alex Evans 146

Section Four • Fat and Normativity
8 Resisting Fatphobia in the Critical Tradition of Venus and Adonis
   Elena Levy-Navarro 175
9 “It’s Not Over Till the Fat Lady Sings”: The Weight of the Opera Diva
   Serena Guarracino 192
10 Fat’s No Four-Letter Word: Fat Feminism and Identity Politics in the 1970s and 1980s
    Greta Rensenbrink 213

Contributors 245
Index 249