

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	9
Acknowledgments	11
Interlude I: Images of Promise and Desire	15
Chapter 1. In the Beginning . . .	17
Breaking into the Ivory Tower	22
Research Purpose and Questions	37
Metaphorically Speaking	41
Choreography, Improvisation, and Stars	42
of the Show: Research Steps and Participants
Writing Up/Writing as the Inquiry	50
Interlude II: Images of Trouble and Critique	53
Chapter 2. Under the Microscope: Conceptual Map	55
Coarse Focus: Gramscian Theory and Concepts	57
Fine Focus: Holistic Incidental Adult Learning	62
The Object on the Stage: Shopping as Learning in and about Contemporary Globalization	69
Consumer-Citizenship	69
Gender, Race, and Class: Consumer-Citizenship as a Social Construct	78
Globalization	89
From Shopping and Consumption to Learning and Resistance	100
Interlude III: Shopping for a Dissertation	109
Chapter 3. Snapping the Picture: Envisioning the Research Project	111
Ontological Lens	112

Epistemological Prism	113
Releasing the Shutter: Research Methodology	119
Aperture, Speed, and Focus: The Final Adjustments	127
What Is a Case, and Where Is the Evidence?	127
Where Am I in This Picture? Researcher Reflexivity	129
Chapter 4. Novel Consumption: Going Shopping and Learning with Fictional Characters	133
Narrative 1: Hegemonic Consumerism	138
Narrative 2: Reasonable Balance	142
Narrative 3: Cynicism	146
Narrative 4: Committed Resistance	150
Summary	154
Interlude IV: A PhD Student, Her Books, and Her Search for a Bookcase	157
Chapter 5. The Disciplines of Shopping: What Participants Learn to Do	159
Learning to Learn	161
Conducting Research	171
Weighing Value(s)	173
Developing Literacy	186
Constructing a Shopper's Geography	192
Summary	203
Interlude V: My Dinner at Moyo's	205
Chapter 6. Growing Up with, Growing Into, Growing Out of: Who Participants Learn to Be	207
A Community of "Good" Shoppers	210
From Good Shopper to Good Canadian Shopper: The Consumer as Citizen	215
The Shopper as a Social Character	223
Summary	241
Interlude VI: Radical Accidents	243
Chapter 7. At the Root of It All: How Participants Learn to Make Change	245
Forms of Reflexivity	246

Radical: What's in a Name?	249
Radical Aspirations	253
Radical Risks and Alternatives	257
What's Radical Is Relative	264
Learning to Change Shopping, Shopping to Make Change	265
It All Adds Up, but . . .	267
Each One Teach One	271
Getting the Political Message to the     Politicians	275
Answering Questions, Questioning     Answers	277
If You Can't Join 'Em, Beat 'Em	281
Two Steps Forward, One Step Back:     Patterns of Learning	285
Buying in or Selling Out: Concluding Thoughts	286
 Interlude VII: Rumours and Queues	 289
Chapter 8. Somewhere around the Middle	291
Conceptualizing Learning: Holistic Learning in Everyday Life	294
Educating Critical Consumer-Citizens	296
Understanding and Enacting Change	301
Protecting Consumer-Citizens	302
Exploring Globalization	304
Closing Thoughts	305
 References	 307
About the Author	320