

Contents

Abbreviations	xii
Preface	xiv
Introduction	1
1. Justin Martyr and the Pneumatology of the Mid-Second Century	9
1.1 Trinitarian Convictions	11
1.2 Indistinct Activity of Spirit and Word: Binitarianism in Conflict with Trinitarianism	14
1.2.1 Rebuking the People of God	14
1.2.2 The Mechanism of Prayer	15
1.2.3 Adorning the Mind	16
1.2.4 The Inspiration of Prophecy	18
1.3 Spirit-Christology in 1 Apol 33 and Dial 87–88: The Subordination of Trinitarian Conviction to Binitarian Orientation	21
1.3.1 The Incarnation	23
1.3.2 The Bestowal of Spiritual Gifts	25
2. The Beginning of a Pneumatology	32
2.1 Against Heresies 1	32
2.1.1 The Spirit as Creator	32
2.2 Against Heresies 2	37
2.2.1 The Divinity of the Holy Spirit	38
2.2.1.1 The Distinction of the Word and Spirit from Humanity	38
2.2.1.2 The Distinction of the Word and Spirit	40
2.2.2 The Creator God as Spirit	41
3. Pneumatological Expansion	46
3.1 Pentecost	46
3.2 The ‘Pillar and Support’ of the Church	51
3.3 The Winged Spirit	53
4. The Emergence and Development of Foundational Themes	59
4.1 The Unction of Christ	59
4.1.1 The Anointing of Jesus’ Humanity by the Spirit	61
4.1.2 The Effect of the Anointing by the Spirit	66
4.1.2.1 The Anointing Spirit is the Holy Spirit	67

4.1.2.2 The Non-Qualitative Empowerment of Jesus' Humanity	71
4.1.2.3 The Unction of Christ is the Medium of Salvation	73
4.1.3 Jesus' Anointing within the Context of his Incarnation and Glorification	73
4.1.3.1 The Reception of Incorruptibility at his Incarnation	74
4.1.3.2 The Reception of Communicability at his Glorification	75
4.2 The Unction of the Church	78
4.2.1 The Analogy of the Dry Wheat	79
4.2.2 The Analogy of the Dry Tree	83
4.3 The Life-Giving Gift	86
4.4 The Creative Agency of the Spirit	89
Excursus: Irenaeus' Reception of Theophilus' To Autolycus	97
The Significance of Ps. 33:6 (32:6 LXX)	98
The Significance of AH 3.24.1	100
5. His Hand and Wisdom	104
5.1 The Hands of God	104
5.1.1 The Source of the Hands Motif	107
5.1.2 The Theological and Polemical Utility of the Hands Motif	119
5.2 The Spirit as Wisdom	126
5.2.1 The Identification of the Spirit as Wisdom	129
5.2.2 The Activity and Effect of Wisdom	136
6. The Salvific Spirit	148
6.1 The Presence of the Spirit to Humanity	151
6.2 The Bipartite Constitution of the Human Being	164
6.3 The Life-Giving Activity of the Holy Spirit	166
6.4 Perfection, Likeness, Eternality	173
7. Trinitarian Convictions, Trinitarian Logic	182
7.1 Spirit-Christology	182
7.1.1 Non-Spirit-Christological Passages	183
7.1.2 Spirit-Christological Passages	190
7.2 Angelomorphic Pneumatology	194
7.2.1 No Textual Basis for Understanding Cherubim and Seraphim as Uncreated	196
7.2.2 A Textual Basis for Understanding Cherubim and Seraphim as Created	198
7.2.3 The Grammatical Construction of Prf 10 does Not Permit Lanne's Reading	200
7.2.4 An Alternative Reading of Prf 10	201
Conclusion and Epilogue	204
Origen	206
Tertullian	209
Novatian	211

Appendix: Language of Revelation in Justin's First and Second Apologies and Dialogue with Trypho	216
Bibliography	217
Index Locorum	237
General Index	242