

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	1
Anna Kerchy and Andrea Zittlau
Leptous Bodies and Abject Charity.....	20
Kamillea Aghtan
Missionaries, Monsters, and the Demon Show: Diabolized Representations of American Indians in the Jesuit Libraries of Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Upper Hungary.....	38
Ildikó Sz. Kristóf
Frontier Girl Goes Feral in Eighteenth Century France: The Curious Case of Marie-Angélique Memmie Le Blanc, the Wild Girl of Champagne	74
Susan Small
The Diderot Freak Show: The Monster Laboratory in D'Alembert's Dream	90
Dóra Székési
Spectacular Medical Freakery: British "Translations" of Nineteenth Century European Teratology	112
Ally Crockford
Monstrous Bodies in Rudolf Virchow's Medical Collection in Nineteenth-Century Germany.....	129
Birgit Stammberger
Enfreakment and German Medical Collections.....	150
Andrea Zittlau
Normalizing Bodily Difference in Autobiographical Narratives of the Central European Armless Wonders Carl Hermann Unthan and František Filip	169
Lucie Storchová

“Tiny Artists from the Big World”: The Rhetoric of Representing Extraordinary Bodies during the Singer Midgets’ 1928 Tour in Prague.....	193
Filip Herza
From the Showbiz to the Concentration Camp: The Fabulous, Freakish Life of Hungarian Jewish Dwarf Performers Zoli Hirsch and the Ovitz Family	211
Anna Kérchy
The Freaks of Chernobyl: Fantasies of Nuclear Mutants in (Post)Soviet Society	233
Eugenia Kuznetsova
On Grace and Disability: Personal and Philosophical Reflections on a Marionette Theatre Project by Disabled Youth in Post-Soviet Russia	251
Krisztián Benkő
Longing for Endor: Little People and the Ideological Colonization of the European Fantasy Genre.....	266
Catriona McAra
Contributors.....	284
Index.....	288