Contents

Acknowledgements vii

Foreword ix
Tom Conley

Introduction: Encounters with Borders 1
Kimmo Ahonen, Raita Merivirta, Heta Mulari and Rami Mähkä

Worlds Divided by the Iron Curtain

Chapter 1: Imagining West Berlin: Spatiality and History in Wim Wenders' Wings of Desire, 1987 17
Hannu Salmi

Chapter 2: 'What's Wrong with a Cowboy in Hamburg?': New German Cinema and the German-American Cultural Frontier 41
Jacqui Miller

Chapter 3: The Collapse of Ideologies in Peter Kahane's The Architects 65
Marco Bohr

Chapter 4: How to Win the Cold War: Borders of the Free World in Guilty of Treason (1950) and Red Planet Mars (1952) 91
Kimmo Ahonen

Alternative Cultural Locations

Chapter 5: Crossing Over: On Becoming European in Aki Kaurismäki's Cinema 113
Sanna Peden
Chapter 6: Looking for Alternative London: The London Nobody Knows and the Pop-Geographical Borders of the City

Kari Kallioniemi

Chapter 7: The Cité's Architectural, Linguistic and Cinematic Frontiers in L'Esquivet

Jehanne-Marie Gavarini

Borders Crossed, Borders Within

Chapter 8: Between Hamburg and Istanbul: Mobility, Borders and Identity in the Films of Fatih Akin

Jessica Gallagher

Chapter 9: Transnational Heroines: Swedish Youth Film and Immigrant Girlhood

Heta Mulari

Chapter 10: Family as Internal Border in Dogtooth

Ipek A. Celik

Post-Colonial Borders and Cultural Frontiers

Chapter 11: Gendered Conflicts in Northern Ireland: Motherhood, the Male Body and Borders in Some Mother's Son and Hunger

Raita Merivirta

Chapter 12: Heartlands and Borderlands: El Dorado and the Post-Franco Spanish Cinema as a Bridgehead between Europe and Latin America

Petteri Halin

Chapter 13: Subverted and Transgressed Borders: The Empire in British Comedy and Horror films

Rami Mähkä

Notes on Contributors

Index