

Table of Contents

Preface 7

Dedication 9

Introduction 10

Prologue: Development and Structural Violence:
The Millennium Development Goals:
Why, How, and Why so Difficult? 11

Part One DEVELOPMENT AS UNFOLDING 15

1. What Is in a Word: Development as Unfolding 16

2. A Theory of Development: Diversity, Symbiosis and Equity..... 20

3. Development Meeting Basic Needs of Humans and Nature 31

4. Development Overcoming Structural Violence..... 40

5. Development Overcoming Cultural Violence 45

Part Two DE-DEVELOPMENT AS MACRO-HISTORY 49

6. De-Development: Three Theses on Social Disintegration 50

7. A Macro-Historical Perspective: Structural Transformations 55

8. A Macro-Historical Perspective: Cultural Transformations 64

9. From Nomadism to Monadism-Atomie-Anomie..... 68

10. The Four Worlds and the Rise of Northwest and Southeast 78

Part Three DE-DEVELOPMENT AS IMPERIALISM 89

11. Why Study De-Development as Imperialism?..... 90

12. Toward a Theory of Development: Seven Factors..... 93

13. Toward a Theory of De-Development: Twenty Factors..... 97

14. Ten Case-Studies, Twenty Factors, and Five Reflections 99

15. Sustainability, Acceptable Death and Euthanasia 115

Part Four DEVELOPMENT ACROSS CULTURES..... 121

16. Eschatology and Development Visions..... 122

17. The Buddhist and Islamic Models 129

18. The Western Liberal and Marxist Models 137

19. The Japanese and Chinese Models 142

20. Six Developments Overcoming De-Development?..... 150

Part Five DEVELOPMENT ACROSS SPACES	158
21. Nature Development: Ecological Balance.....	159
22. Human Development: A Living Income For Everyone on Earth	163
23. Social Development: Pluralism Within and Between.....	181
24. World Development: Weltinnenpolitik	183
25. From Development Assistance to Reciprocity.....	186
Epilogue: Development as a Way of Life	193
Appendix 1: Development and Its Discontents: 50 Theses	196
Appendix 2: Development Indicators	206
Appendix 3: Bivariate Diachronic Analysis	211
Appendix 4: The Cocoyoc Declaration	213
Literature	222
Endnotes	233
Index	275