

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Preface	ix
Introduction	1
Chapter 1 The Crime Genre	11
Origins	14
Crime and the Law	16
Chapter 2 Enter the Police	21
A Genre is Born	25
The Police and the Welfare State	26
Backlash	27
Dirty Harry	28
Crime and Civilization	33
Crime Dystopia: The Psychopath and the Serial Killer	36
Chapter 3 Crime Scene: Sweden	39
A Beginning	42
Gemeinschaft and Gesellschaft and the Nation	43
Crime and Nationality	45
The Young Savages of the Asphalt Jungles	47
The Hoodlum Film	48
The Politics of Crime	50
From Punishment to Reform and Back Again	51
Moral Panics and Crime Journalism	55
Print the Faction!	56

Chapter 4	The 1960s and 1970s: Sjöwall and Wahlöö	59
	Liberal-Conservative Criticism of the Welfare State	61
	Criticism from within the Labour Movement	63
	New Left Criticism of the Welfare State	64
	Eco-Humanist or Green Criticism of the Welfare State	66
	Per Wahlöö and Maj Sjöwall Before Sjöwall and Wahlöö	67
	Story of a Crime: Sjöwall and Wahlöö from Freud to Marx	81
	The Film Adaptations	106
Chapter 5	The 1980s: Leif G.W. Persson and Jan Guillou	119
	Leif G.W. Persson	122
	Jan Guillou	133
Chapter 6	The 1990s: Henning Mankell and Håkan Nesser	159
	Henning Mankell	163
	Håkan Nesser and the Eurocop from Neverland	201
Chapter 7	Millennium Cops	221
	Crime and Punishment in the Age of the War on Terror	223
	‘Europudding’ Police	225
	Son of Dirty Harry: Beck and the Iconic Rise of Gunvald Larsson	226
	Roslund and Hellström	238
	Stieg Larsson	248
	Leif G.W. Persson: Downfall of the Welfare State	264
Chapter 8	Into the Twilight	283
	Cops and the Gemeinschaft/Gesellschaft Dichotomy	286
	The Vigilante Cop and Right-wing Extremism	287
	The Vigilante Cop and Fascism	290
	The Challenge of Evil	292
References		295
Index: Names		337
Index: Titles of Works		359