Contents

List of Figures and Tables vii
Notes on Contributors xiii
Acknowledgements xvii

Introduction: The Margins of Exhibitions and Exhibitions Studies 1
Marta Filipová

EXHIBITION AS A CONCEPT

1 A Capital in the Margins: Concepts for a Budapest Universal Exhibition between 1867 and 1917 23
Miklós Székely

2 Barcelona’s Universal Exhibition of 1888: An Atypical Case of a Great Exhibition 45
Marina Muñoz Torreblanca

3 A Marginal Exhibition? The All-German Exhibition in Berlin, 1844 69
John R. Davis

CONSTRUCTING IDENTITIES

4 ‘Witness to the Momentous Significance of German Labour in Bohemia’: Exhibitions in the German-Speaking Regions of Bohemia before the First World War 91
Tomáš Okurka

5 The Nation for Itself: The 1896 Hungarian Millennium and the 1906 Romanian National General Exhibition 113
Samuel D. Albert
6 The Forefront of English Commercial Centres: Wolverhampton’s Exhibitions of 1869 and 1902
Marta Filipová

HISTORICITY AND MODERNITY

7 Nature and the Brazilian State at the Independence Centennial International Exhibition in Rio de Janeiro, 1922
Livia Rezende

8 The Ghent Universal and International Exhibition of 1913: Reconciling Historicism, Modernity and Exoticism
Davy Depelchin

9 Old London, Old Edinburgh: Constructing Historic Cities
Wilson Smith

ART AND DESIGN EXHIBITED

10 A Red-Letter Day: Evaluating Progress in New Zealand’s Art at Dunedin’s International Exhibitions, 1865 and 1889
Rebecca Rice

11 International Exhibitions and Urban Aspirations: Launceston, Tasmania, in the Nineteenth Century
Anne Neale

12 ‘Urbi et Orbi’: Decentralization and Design in Nancy’s International Exposition of Eastern France, 1909
Claire O’Mahony

INTERNATIONAL AMBITIONS

13 Merging Peripheries and Centres: The Transnational Interconnectedness of the Helsinki National Exhibition of 1876
Taina Syrjämaa

14 The Last Exhibition of the Italian Colonial Empire: Naples 1938–40
Giovanni Arena

15 International Ambitions of an Exhibition at the Margin: Japan’s 1903 Osaka Exposition
Jeffer Daykin

Index