Contents

List of Contributors ix

Part I. Introduction

- Anti-Representational Semantics: Four Themes
  - Nicholas Tebben 3

Part II. Truth and Reference

1. Deflationism, Pragmatism, and Metaphysics
   - Rebecca Kukla and Eric Winsberg 25

2. Does the Expressive Role of ‘True’ Preclude Deflationary Davidsonian Semantics?
   - Steven Gross 47

3. An Inferential Account of Referential Success
   - Alexis Burgess 64

4. Representation and the Modern Correspondence Theory of Truth
   - Michael Glanzberg 81

5. Deflationism, Truth, and Accuracy
   - Dean Pettit 103

Part III. Expression and Expressivism

6. What Would an Expressivist Semantics Be?
   - Mark Richard 137

7. Hard Cases for Combining Expressivism and Deflationist Truth: Conditionals and Epistemic Modals
   - Mark Schroeder 160

8. Expression: Acts, Products, and Meaning
   - Dorit Bar-On 180

9. Global Expressivism and the Truth in Representation
   - Allan Gibbard 210

10. The Limits of Expressivism
    - Anandi Hattiangadi 224
Part IV. Normativity

11. Pragmatism and the Price of Truth
   Michael Patrick Lynch 245

12. Pragmatism and the Function of Truth
   Cheryl Misak 262

13. Life Is Not a Box-Score: Lived Normativity, Abstract Evaluation, and the Is/Ought Distinction
   Mark Lance 279

Part V. Naturalism

14. Idling and Sidling Toward Philosophical Peace
   Huw Price 307

15. Is (Determinate) Meaning a Naturalistic Phenomenon?
   Paul Boghossian 331

16. Kripke's Wittgenstein
   Paul Horwich 359

Index 377