

Contents

General Series Editor's Preface VII

George Bryan Souza

Acknowledgments X

List of Illustrations XII

Notes on Contributors XIII

Introduction 1

Ota Atsushi

PART 1

From Co-existence to Prohibition: Maritime Violence in Europe

- 1 Privateers in the Early-Modern Mediterranean: Violence, Diplomacy and Commerce in the Maghrib, c. 1600-1830 19

Kudo Akihito and Ota Atsushi

- 2 Plunder and Free Trade: British Privateering and Its Abolition in 1856 in Global Perspective 43

Satsuma Shinsuke

PART 2

Contingent Developments in Antipiracy Politics in the Asian Seas

- 3 The Making of the 'Joasmee' Pirates: A Relativist Reconsideration of the Qawāsimi Piracy in the Persian Gulf 69

Hideaki Suzuki

- 4 Petitions and Predation: The Politics of Representation in Northwest India at the Turn of the Nineteenth Century 97

Lakshmi Subramanian

- 5 Trade, Piracy, and Sovereignty: Changing Perceptions of Piracy and Dutch Colonial State-Building in Malay Waters, c. 1780-1830 115

Ota Atsushi

- 6 In the Name of Sovereignty: Spain's Tackling of 'Moro' Piracy in the Sulu Zone, 1768-1898 143
James Francis Warren

PART 3

Piracy and State in East Asia

- 7 Piracy Prohibition Edicts and the Establishment of Maritime Control System in Japan, c. 1585-1640 171
Fujita Tatsuo (translated by Ota Atsushi)
- 8 The Suppression of Pirates in the China Seas by the Naval Forces of China, Macao, and Britain (1780-1860) 199
Toyooka Yasufumi and Murakami Ei
- Conclusion 232
Ota Atsushi

Bibliography 237

Index 261