

Contents

Foreword	ix
Series editors' preface	xiii
Acknowledgements	xiv
Contributors	xv
Hilary Mantel: A Chronology	xvii

- 'What Cannot Be Fixed, Measured, Confined': The Mobile Texts
of Hilary Mantel Eileen Pollard and Ginette Carpenter 1
- 1 Mantel's Social Work Gothic: Trauma and State Care in Every Day Is Mother's Day and Vacant Possession Eleanor Byrne 13
- 2 History, Nation and Self: Wolf Hall and the Machinery of Memory Siobhan O'Connor 27
- 3 Making History Otherwise: Learning to Talk and The Assassination of Margaret Thatcher Eileen Pollard 41
- 4 Reading Minds – Wolf Hall's Revision of the Poetics of Subjectivity Renate Brosch 57
- 5 Subjectivity in Process: Writing and the I in Giving Up the Ghost and Ink in the Blood Victoria Bennett 73
- 6 Becoming Ghost: Spectral Realism in Hilary Mantel's
Fiction Wolfgang Funk 87
- 7 Walking the Dead: Unruly (Re)Animation in A Place of Greater Safety Ginette Carpenter 101
- 8 Holy Ghost Writers: Spectrality, Intertextuality and Religion in Wolf Hall and Fludd Lucy Arnold 117

9	'I Am a Settlement, a Place of Safety, a Bombproof Shelter': Hauntings, Hospitality and Homeland Insecurity in Hilary Mantel's Beyond Black Kathryn Bird	133
	'Between the Real and the Imagined': Hilary Mantel's Craft	147
	Further Reading	156
	Index	159