

DETAILED CONTENTS

---

Preface	xv
Acknowledgments	xix
About the Authors	xxi

SECTION I • INTRODUCTION AND HISTORICAL FOUNDATION

Chapter 1 • Introduction to African American Psychology	3
Introduction, Definitions, and Conceptual Frameworks	4
What Is African American Psychology?	4
Convergent Perspectives	7
African and Western Psychology	7
Historical Perspective on the Psychological
Study of African Americans	8
Origins of African Psychology	8
European Scientists' Contribution to Racism	8
American Scientists' Contributions to Scientific Racism	9
Intelligence Testing	10
Study of African Americans in American Psychology	11
Comparative Studies	12
Contemporary Research in African American Psychology	14
Self-Determination	14
African American Psychologists in the Early 20th Century	14
The Association of Black Psychologists	15
Toward a Black Psychology	17
The Journal of Black Psychology	17
Studies of African Americans in Other Journals	18
Influential African American Psychologists	18
African Americans' Presence Within the American
Psychological Association	23
Status of African American Psychology Today	23
Teaching African American Psychology	23
African American Psychologists	23
African American Faculty and Graduate Students in
Graduate Departments of Psychology	24
Methodological and Research Issues	25
Critical Analysis	27
Summary	28

Chapter 2 • African-Centered Psychology 29

Introduction to African-Centered Psychology and the Africentric Worldview	30
What Is African Psychology?	31
Beginnings and Current State of African-Centered Psychology	32
African American Psychologists and African-Centered Psychology	34
Joseph White	34
Asa Hilliard	34
Wade Nobles	35
Na'im Akbar	35
Kobi K. K. Kambon (aka Joseph Baldwin)	36
Linda James Myers	37
Cheryl Tawede Grills	37
African Philosophy	38
Spirituality	39
Collectivism	41
Time Orientation	42
Orality	43
Sensitivity to Affect and Emotional Cues	44
Verve and Rhythm	44
Balance and Harmony With Nature	44
Other Aspects of Africentric Psychology	45
Can an African Worldview Exist Among Contemporary African Americans?	46
African-Centered Research With African Americans	48
Studies on Differences Between African Americans and European Americans on Africentric Dimensions	48
The Relationship Between Africentric Beliefs and Other Variables	49
Methodological and Research Issues	50
Methods for Studying People of African Descent	50
How Is the Africentric Worldview Measured?	51
Empirically Based Programs in Africentric Psychology	55
Africentric Programs for Youth	55
African-Centered Programs for Adults	56
Critical Analysis	57
Summary	59

Chapter 3 • Self-Attributes and Identity 61

Introductions, Definitions, and Conceptual Framework	63
Defining Self-Esteem and Self-Concept	63
Cultural Differences in Self-Conceptualization	64
Social Identity	64
Self-Concept Among African Americans	66
Historical Perspectives on Black Self-Concept	67
Identity: Development and Change	67
Identity Development	68
Ethnic Identity Change	70
Models of Racial Identity	70
Nigrescence Models of Racial Identity	70

Adaptations and Refinements of Nigrescence Theory	72
Multidimensional Model of Racial Identity	74
Correlates of Racial Identity and Self-Concept	74
Media and Technology Influence on Self and Identity	78
Sexual Identity	79
Intersectionality of Racial/Ethnic and Sexual Identity	80
Acculturation, Racial Socialization, Gender
Roles, and Masculinity	81
Acculturation	81
Racial Socialization	82
Gender Roles	84
Feminism and Womanism	85
Masculinity and Hypermasculinity	87
Methodological and Research Issues	88
Measures of Racial and Ethnic Identity	89
Measures of Other Cultural Constructs	90
Best Practices for Increasing Positive Racial and Ethnic
Identity and Racial Socialization	90
Rites-of-Passage Programs	91
Increasing Racial Socialization	92
Critical Analysis	93
Summary	94

Chapter 4 • Race and Racism 95

Introduction, Definitions, and Historical Overview	97
Definition and Conceptualization of Race	97
Definition and Conceptualization of Racism	101
Types of Racism	104
Individual, Institutional, and Cultural Racism	104
Symbolic and Aversive Racism vs. Old-Fashioned Racism	105
Consequences of Racism	107
Police Violence Against African American Men	107
Criminal Justice	109
Health	112
Housing	113
Mental and Psychological Well-Being	114
Coping With Racism	115
Africultural Coping	115
Clinical Approaches for Coping With Racial Trauma	115
Other Strategies for Coping With Racism	116
Colorism and Africentric Features	117
Methodological and Research Issues	118
Measures of Racism	119
Evidenced-Based and Promising Practices for Reducing Racism	121
Contact Hypothesis	122
Superordinate Group Memberships	122
Societal Approaches to Decreasing Racism	123
Critical Analysis	123
Summary	124

SECTION II • SOCIAL SYSTEMS AND STRUCTURES

Chapter 5 • Kinship and Family	127
Definitions and Historical Background on African American Families	128
Definitions	129
Historical Approaches to Studying Black Families	130
African American Family Structure	131
Historical Perspective	131
What Does the African American Family Look Like?	134
Single-Parent-Headed Households	135
Family Structure of Households With Children	135
Births to Teen Mothers	137
Foster Care and Adoption	137
Marriage, Divorce, Remarriage, and Cohabitation	141
The African American Extended Family	142
The Role of the Grandmother	144
African American Fathers	145
Parenting Among Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender (LGBT) Couples	147
Rural Families	147
Strengths, Coping, and Parenting Patterns	148
Strength and Resilience Among African American Families	148
Coping and Adjustment Among African American Families	148
Parenting Attitudes and Practices	149
Racial Socialization	151
Methodological and Research Issues	152
Evidenced-Based Practices for Strengthening African American Families	153
Strong African American Family Program	153
REAL Men	154
African-Centered Approaches to Strengthening African American Families	155
Critical Analysis	155
Summary	157
Chapter 6 • Education and Work	159
Introduction and Overview	160
A Demographic Portrait of the Educational Status of African Americans	162
Historical Perspectives on the Education of African Americans	162
Research on the Educational Experiences of African Americans	165
Childhood Educational Experiences	166
Educational Contexts and Settings	172
Higher Education	175
Culture and Noncognitive Factors in Education	177
African-Centered Approaches to Education	178
Identity and Group Membership in Education	179

Perspectives on Work, Career, Vocations, and Employment	181
Historical Perspectives on Work	181
African-Centered Perspective on Employment	181
Measuring Employment	182
Psychological Perspectives on Work, Career, and Employment	183
Methodological and Research Issues	185
Evidence-Based Practices for Improving Educational Outcomes	185
Critical Analysis	188
Summary	190

Chapter 7 • Neighborhoods and Communities 191

Introduction and Overview	193
Definitions	194
Definitions of Neighborhood	195
Communalism	195
Community Psychology and Africentric Psychology	196
Community "Capacity" and Why Neighborhoods Are Important to Study	197
Demographic and Historical Perspectives on the African American Community	198
Communities During and After Slavery	198
Migration Patterns	198
Contemporary Residential Patterns: Where African Americans Live	199
Poverty and African American Communities	200
Environmental Health Risks	200
Factors Shaping Residential Patterns	202
Impact of Neighborhood on Psychosocial and Health Outcomes	203
Theoretical Perspectives on Communities	204
Social Disorganization Theory	204
Social Capital	205
Alternative Conceptualization of Neighborhood	205
Research on African American Communities	206
Disadvantaged Neighborhoods	206
Neighborhood and Child Developmental Outcomes	207
Research on Factors Reflecting a Positive Community Orientation Among African Americans	210
Methodological and Research Issues	211
Empirically Supported Practices and Policy for Community and Neighborhood Improvement	212
Critical Analysis	215
Summary	216

SECTION III • INDIVIDUAL AND DEVELOPMENTAL PROCESSES

Chapter 8 • Interpersonal and Close Relationships 219

Introduction, Definitions, and Historical Perspectives	221
The Nature of Relationships	221

Relationships Among Africans	222
Friendships and Peer Relationships	223
Gender Differences in Friendships	223
Racial and Ethnic Differences in Friendship Networks	224
African American Adolescent Friendships	224
African American Adolescent Male Relationships	225
African American Adolescent Female Relationships	226
Romantic Relationships	227
What Is Love?	227
Love in African Cultures	227
African American Romantic Relationships	228
Mate Availability	228
Economic Feasibility	229
Mate Selection	229
Mate Selection Among African Americans	231
Interpersonal Attraction	232
What Is Attractive?	233
Interracial Attitudes, Friendships, and Relationships	237
Interracial Friendships	237
Interracial Romance	238
Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer (LGBTQ) Relationships	240
African American Same-Sex Couples	241
Methodological and Research Issues	243
Lack of Research	243
Conceptualization and Measurement	243
Best Practices for Improving Relationships	244
Critical Analysis	245
Summary	246
Chapter 9 • Cognition, Learning, and Language	247
Introduction, Definitions, and Historical Framework	249
Definitions	249
African American Cognition: Historical Perspectives	250
The Acquisition of Knowledge	250
Cognitive Styles	252
Attention to Social and Interpersonal Stimuli	253
Sensory Preference	253
Holistic Approach to Information Organization and Analysis	253
Learning Styles	254
Analytical Learning Style	255
Relational Learning Style	257
Communal Learning Style	259
Verve, Rhythm, and Learning	260
Language	264
What Is Black English?	264
Dialect or Language?	265
Features of Black English	266
Usage of Words Whose Meaning Are Unique to African Americans	268

Meaning of Speech for African Americans	268
Perceptions of Black English	270
Methodological and Research Issues	271
Promising Practices for Increasing Cognitive and Language Skills	272
Improvements in Student Learning	273
Strategies When Working With African American Children	273
Culturally Responsive Classrooms	274
Improving Language Skills	275
Using the Oral Tradition to Improve Learning	276
Critical Analysis	276
Summary	278
Chapter 10 • Religion and Spirituality	279
Introduction, Definitions, and Background	280
Definitions	281
Religious Activity	282
Historical Influences	285
Religion and Spirituality in Traditional African Culture	286
Features of Traditional African Religion	286
Historical Perspectives on African American Religion	289
Contemporary African American Churches	291
Features of African American Churches	292
The Black MegaChurch	295
Spirituality, Religion, and Well-Being	296
Spirituality and Coping With Stressful Events	296
Spirituality and Psychosocial Functioning	297
Spirituality and Health	299
Contemporary Topics	300
African American Churches and
Psychological and Social Issues	300
The Role of the Black Church in Salvation and Liberation	303
Methodological and Research Issues	304
Spirituality From an African-Centered Perspective	304
Measuring Religiosity and Spirituality	304
Empirically Based Practices Using Religion and Spirituality	306
Critical Analysis	307
Summary	309
Chapter 11 • Life Span Development	311
Introduction and Definitions	313
Definitions and Key Concepts	314
Demographics	315
Life Expectancy and Age of the African
American Population	315
Childbirths	316
Infant Mortality	317
Poverty	317
Early Deaths, Incarceration, and Suicide	318
Employment and Education	318

Seniors	319
Challenges and Strengths	319
Theoretical Perspectives on the Development of African Americans	320
Vygotsky Social Cognitive Theory	320
Bronfenbrenner and Ecological Theory	322
Phenomenological Variant of Ecological Systems Theory	323
Research on the Development of African Americans	324
Prenatal Period, Infancy, and Early Childhood	324
Adolescence	327
Adulthood	331
Older Adulthood	333
Methodological and Research Issues	335
Race-Comparative Studies	335
Inclusion and Representativeness of Sample	335
Longitudinal and Cross-Sectional Designs	336
Measures	336
Best Practices and Promising Interventions for Improving Developmental Outcomes	337
Critical Analysis	339
Summary	340

SECTION IV • ADJUSTMENT AND ADAPTATION

Chapter 12 • Health, Illness, and Disability 343

Introduction, Definitions, and Background	345
Definitions	345
Factors Affecting the Health of African Americans	346
Health Disparities	347
Mortality and Morbidity	348
Differentials in Life Expectancy	348
Prevalence of Health Conditions Causing Deaths	349
Disability Among African Americans	349
Health Promotion, Disease Prevention, and Health Care Utilization	351
Health Promotion and Disease Prevention	351
Health Care Utilization Patterns	352
Models of Health and Illness Behaviors	357
Social and Psychological Models	357
Critique of Models	360
Cultural Models of Health and Illness	361
Racism and Physical Health	362
Selected Health and Illness Conditions Among African Americans	363
Hypertension	363
AIDS/HIV	365
Sickle Cell Disease	366
Diabetes	367
Methodological and Research Issues	369
Lack of Participation in Research and Clinical Trials	369
Inadequate Data Collection Protocols and Measures	370
Cultural Context of Participants	370

Empirically Supported Practices for Reducing Morbidity and Mortality	371
System-Level Changes	371
Preventing HIV	371
Reducing Diabetes	372
Critical Analysis	373
Summary	374

Chapter 13 • Psychosocial Adaptation and Mental Health 375

Introduction and Definitions	377
Definitions, Perspectives, and Historical Context	378
Mental Illness in Africa	379
Theoretical Perspectives on Psychological Adaptation and Dysfunction Among African Americans	381
Biopsychosocial Perspective on Adaptation	382
African-Centered Perspectives on Adaptation	384
Race and Culture in Psychotherapy	386
Data on Mental Health of African Americans	391
Epidemiological Studies	391
National Survey of Black Americans (NSBA) and the National Survey of American Life (NSAL)	391
Other Findings on Prevalence of Psychological Dysfunction Among African Americans	393
Mental Health Service Utilization	395
Involuntary Commitment	396
Research on the Role of Culture, Identity, and Discrimination in Well-Being	396
Racial Identity	396
Racial Discrimination	397
Racial Cultural Socialization	398
Methodological and Research Issues	399
Assessment	399
Mental Health and Social Status:
The Confounding of Race and Socioeconomic Status	402
Promising and Evidence-Based Practices for Improving Mental Health Outcomes	402
Guidelines and Practices for Improving Mental Health	404
American Psychological Association (APA) Guidelines	404
National Center on Minority Health and Health Disparities	405
Training Cultural Competence	405
Critical Analysis	406
Summary	407

Chapter 14 • Drug Use and Abuse 409

Introductions, Definitions, and Historical Perspectives	411
Definitions	411
Historical Patterns of Drug Use in Africa and the United States	412
Current Drug Use Among African Americans	414
Diversity in Substance Use and Abuse Among Blacks	414

Alcohol	416
Cigarettes and Related Products	416
Illicit Drugs	418
Substance Abuse and Dependence	420
Causes and Consequences of Drug Use	420
Drug Use Initiation	420
Co-Occurring Behaviors	421
Consequences	421
Risk and Protective Factors	422
Cultural Factors	427
Institutional and Societal Factors	429
Methodological and Research Issues	431
Identification of Appropriate and Relevant Constructs and Measures in Drug Research	431
Recruitment of African American Participants in Drug Research	431
Best Practices for Preventing and Treating Drug Use	432
Culturally Focused Approaches to Drug Prevention and Treatment	433
Critical Analysis	435
Summary	436
Chapter 15 • Prosocial and Antisocial Behavior	437
Introduction	439
Prosocial Behavior	439
Foundations of Prosocial Behavior	440
History of Prosocial Behavior in the United States	442
Theoretical Perspectives on Prosocial Behavior	443
Volunteering, Giving, and Civic Engagement	445
Antisocial Behavior	449
Violence Against Africans From the Middle Passage to the Present Day	449
Theories of Aggression and Violence	451
Community and Youth Violence	455
Bullying and Victimization	459
Violence Against African American Women	459
Methodological and Research Issues	462
Measuring Prosocial and Aggressive Behavior	462
A Measure of Respect	463
Confounding Class and Race	463
Best Practices for Increasing Prosocial Behavior and Decreasing Antisocial Behavior	464
The Aban Aya Youth Project	464
Pen or Pencil	464
Critical Analysis	465
Summary	466
References	467
Author Index	551
Subject Index	579