

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	page ix
List of Contributors	x
Preface and Acknowledgments	xvii
Introduction
The Civil Sphere in the Cultural and Political Transformations of Modern East Asia	I
David A. Palmer and Jeffrey C. Alexander
1 South Korea's Presidential Scandal and Civil Repair	18
Jongryul Choi
2 System Crisis and the Civil Sphere
Media Discourse on the Crisis of Education in South Korea	38
Sumwoong Park
3 Boundary Tension and Reconstruction
Credit Information Crises and the Civil Sphere in Korea	60
Hee-Jeong Lee
4 Performing Civil Disobedience in Hong Kong	84
Agnes Shuk-mei Ku
5 Fault Line in the Civil Sphere
Explaining New Divisions in Hong Kong's Opposition Movement	104
Andrew Junker and Cheris Chan
6 Three Moral Codes and Microcivil Spheres in China	126
David A. Palmer
7 Attempting Civil Repair in China
SACOM's Campaigns and the Challenge to Digital Capitalism	148
Pun Ngai and Kenneth Tsz Fung Ng

8	Fantasy Is More Believable The Shadow Civil Sphere in Chinese Online Fiction Xiaoli Tian	167
9	Institutions and Civil Instantiation The Case of Modern Japanese Police Mayumi Shimizu	188
10	What Constitutes “Autonomy” in the Japanese Civil Sphere? The Struggle over Surrogacy Yoshie Yanagihara	213
11	Developing Communicative Institutions in Local Communities The Practice of Participatory Budgeting in Taiwan Kuo-ming Lin	234
12	Reconciliation through the Transnational Civil Sphere? Historical Dialogue and the Tri-National Joint History Project in East Asia Horng-luen Wang	256
	Commentary Opening Up Civil Sphere Theory: From the United States through Latin America to East Asia Carlo Tognato	278
	Conclusion Theoretical Issues in Comparative Perspective Peter Kivisto and Giuseppe Sciortino	285
	Index	297