

Contents

List of illustrations	ix
Preface	xi
Introduction	1
1 She wants to play the violin!	6
The emergence of the violin virtuose	6
2 The ‘angelic’ counterparts	24
3 Maud Powell: I must carry a message as long as I am able	46
Setting the context	46
Maud Powell: larger than prejudice	48
Conquering America	50
Powell’s musical ‘crusades’ in Europe	55
Pioneering ‘balanced’ programmes	60
Violin concertos premiered in America by Maud Powell	64
Premiering American compositions	69
Maud Powell’s transcriptions	71
Maud Powell’s cadenza for the Brahms violin concerto	73
Maud Powell’s place in the history of the early recording industry	77
4 Marie Pauline Hall: transcending limitations	94
Marie Hall’s collaborations with Vaughan Williams and Edward Elgar	104
Elgar’s violin concerto and Marie Hall’s recording	106
5 Alma Moodie: from praise to oblivion	119
Alma Moodie’s life: art and politics	121
Alma Moodie, champion of modern repertoire	134

6	Virtuose's shared experiences towards the hall of fame	153
----------	--	------------

	Discography and scores	168
--	-------------------------------	-----

	Index	169
--	--------------	-----