

CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables xiv

Preface xviii

1 Public Opinion in Democratic Societies 1

Public Opinion and Government 1

Public Opinion Defined 7

The Evolution of the Public Opinion Poll 9

The Modern Public Opinion Poll and Its Political Consequences 13

Sources of Information on Public Opinion 16

Current Polling Data 17

Modeling the Linkage Between Public Opinion and Public Policies 19

The Rational-Activist Model 19

The Political Parties Model 20

The Interest Groups Model 20

The Delegate Model 21

The Sharing Model 21

Plan of This Book 22

Critical Thinking Questions 22

2 Polling: The Scientific Assessment of Public Opinion 24

The Value of Polls 24

Politicians and the Polls 25

The Public Looks at the Polls 26

Sampling 27

Sampling Theory 27

Bad Sampling: Two Historical Examples 30

Sampling Methods for In-Person Surveys 32

Telephone Surveys 33

Interactive Voice Response (Robotic) Telephone Polls 35

Internet Polls 36

Mode Effects 37

Question Wording 37

Question Asymmetries 38

Multiple Stimuli 38

Question Order Effects 39

Balanced Arguments 39

The Middle Position	40
Response Acquiescence	41
Filter Questions	41
Open-Ended Questions	42
Social Desirability	42
The Question-Wording Experiment	43
Summary: The Pitfalls of Question Wording	44

Polls and Predicting Elections 44

Allocating Undecideds	45
Deciphering Who Votes	45
How Accurate are Election Polls?	46
Election Day Exit Polls	49

Conclusion 50

Critical Thinking Questions	50
-----------------------------	----

3 Microlevel Opinion: The Psychology of Opinion-Holding 53

Political Attention and Opinion-Holding 55

Levels of Political Knowledge	56
Context and Political Information	59
Measuring Political Knowledge	59
Knowledge and Opinions	60
Converting Information into Opinions	60
Low Information Rationality	62
Depth of Opinion-Holding	62
The “Nonattitudes” Explanation	66
The “Measurement Error” Explanation	66
An Explanation Based on Response Probability	67

Liberal–Conservative Ideology and the Organization of Opinions 68

Liberal and Conservative Terminology	69
Use of Ideological Language	73
Ideology as Liberal–Conservative Consistency	75
Ideological Thinking: A Summary	79

Party Identification and the Organization of Political Opinions 79

Perceptions of Party Differences	80
Party Identification and Policy Preferences	82
Party Identification: Psychological Identification or Running Tally?	85

Political Polarization 85

Critical Thinking Questions	87
-----------------------------	----

4 Macrolevel Opinion: The Flow of Political Sentiment 90

The Micro Foundations of Macro Opinion 91

Trends in Policy Opinions 93

Social Welfare Issues	93
Civil Rights	98

Foreign Policy 102
Cultural Issues 104

General Ideological Movement 111

General Partisan Movement 114

Presidential Approval 116

The Honeymoon 117
Rally-Round-the-Flag Effect 118
The Economy 119
Presidential Approval and Presidential Success 120

Conclusion: What Moves Public Opinion? 120

Critical Thinking Questions 120

5 Political Socialization and Political Learning 122

The Preadult Years: Socialization to Citizenship 123

The Consequences of Preadult Socialization to Citizenship 124

The Agents of Preadult Socialization 124

The Family 125
The Peer Group 129
The Primary and Secondary School 131

College: Higher Education and Its Impact 133

The College Years 133
College Students Compared to Non-college Youth 137

Personal Predispositions and Political Attitudes 138

Personality and Political Attitudes 138
Genetic and Political Attitudes 139
Discussion 141

Socialization During Adulthood 141

The Life Cycle, Generations, and Party Identification 143
Generations and Political Polarization 146
Generations, the Life Cycle, and Policy Issues 146
Marriage and Political Attitudes 149

The Persistence of Political Orientations 150

Conclusion 152

Critical Thinking Questions 152

6 Public Opinion and Democratic Stability 155

Support for Democratic Values 156

A Growth in Democratic Tolerance? 159
9/11: The Trade-off Between Civil Liberties and Protecting National Security 162
The Theory of Democratic Elitism 164
Pluralistic Intolerance 166
Intolerant Beliefs and Intolerant Behavior 167

Political Consensus 167

Race and Ethnicity 169

Political Support: Trust and Efficacy 170

Political Trust 170

Political Efficacy 174

Social Trust 175

Personality and Democratic Citizenship 176

The Authoritarian Personality 176

Is There a Democratic Personality? 180

Conclusion 181

Critical Thinking Questions 182

7 Group Differences in Political Opinions 184

Socioeconomic Class and Political Opinions 185

Class Differences on Economic Issues 185

Class Differences on Noneconomic Domestic Issues 188

Class Differences on Foreign Policy 189

Class Differences in Voting and Party Preference 191

Race and Political Opinions 193

Blacks, Whites, and Civil Rights 193

Race and Political Opinions Generally 195

Racial Groups and the Vote 197

Age and Political Opinions 198

The Politics of Age 199

Religion and Political Opinions 201

Protestants, Catholics, Mormons, Jews, and “Nones” 202

Evangelicals, Mainline Protestants, Catholics, and Seculars 205

Geography and Political Opinions 207

Red States and Blue States 208

Urban vs. Rural Political Differences 208

The Changing American South 210

Gender and Political Opinions 213

The Gender Gap in Voting and Partisanship 213

The Gender Gap in Political Knowledge 214

The Gender Gap in Issue Opinions 215

Conclusion 217

Critical Thinking Questions 218

8 The News Media and Political Opinions 221

The Evolution of the American Media 222

Interpretive Journalism 223

The Fragmentation of the Media 224

Bias and Negativity in the News 228

- Liberal Journalists 229
- Conservative Ownership 231
- Biased News? 232
- The Public's View of Media Bias 234
- Negativity in the News 235

Models of Media Effects 236

- The Minimal Effects Model 236
- Contemporary Perspectives on Media Effects 238
- Agenda Setting 238
- Priming 239
- Framing Issues 240
- Mediating Media Influence 241

Media Content and Political Opinions 241

- Television Network News 241
- The Fox News Effect 242
- Talk Radio 243
- Newspapers 244
- The Internet: The World Wide Web and Social Media 245

Media Change and the Quality of Electoral Decision Making 246

- News Consumption During Presidential Campaigns 246

Political Advertising 248

- Negativity in Political Ads 248
- Ads and Political Information 249
- Do Political Ads Work? 250
- Presidential Election Ads in 2016 251

The Media and Political Polarization 251

- Critical Thinking Questions 252

9 Elections as Instruments of Popular Control 255Political Campaigns and the Voter 256

- Short-Term Forces Below the Presidential Level 259
- Who Are the Floating Voters? 259

Policy Issues and Voters 262

- Voter Perceptions of Candidate Differences, 2016 263
- Policy Issues, Ideology, and Votes, 2016 264
- Issue Voting and Candidate Advantage 267
- Causation 268
- Irrational Voters? 270

Explaining Election Outcomes 271

- Partisanship 271
- Retrospective Performance Evaluation: The Economy and Wars 272
- Candidate Evaluations 273
- Issue Positions of Candidates and Voters 274

Conclusion 279

Critical Thinking Questions 280

10 The Public and Its Elected Leaders 283

Opinion Sharing Between Policymakers and the Public 284

Political Parties and Representation 288

Ideology and Party Leaders 289

How People See the Parties Ideologically, Relative to Themselves 291

The Relevance of Party Platforms 292

Party Voting in Legislatures 293

Party Labels as a Basis for Policy Choice 295

The Importance of Party Competition 296

Polarization and the Nationalization of Political Parties 296

Does Party Control Matter? 297

Politicians' Responsiveness to Public Opinion 298

Political Ambition 299

Following Public Opinion 300

Electoral Timing 302

Politicians and their Constituents 304

Do Elected Officials Need to Follow Public Opinion? 304

Incumbency 304

The Public's Attention to Policy Positions 306

Polarization and Candidate Policy Positions 308

Interest Groups and Democratic Representation 308

Interest Group Opinion as Public Opinion 308

Money, PACs, and the Electoral Process 310

Interest Groups: An Assessment 311

Conclusion 311

Critical Thinking Questions 312

11 Public Opinion and the Performance of Democracy 314

Assessing the Impact of Public Opinion on Policy 315

Evidence at the National Level 315

Evidence at the State Level 318

The Opinion–Policy Connection 320

Do All Opinions Count Equally? 321

Interpreting the Public's Role in Democracy 322

Public Apathy as Mass Political Incompetence 322

Public Apathy as Rational Disengagement 323

Public Apathy as Elite Manipulation 323

Public Apathy as Public Contentment 324

Evaluation 324

The Expansion of Political Participation 325

Critical Thinking Questions 326

Appendix: The American National Election Study and the General Social Survey Questions 329

Questions from the American National Election Studies 329

Questions from the General Social Survey 332

References 334

Index 365