

Contents

Notes on contributors

vii

PART I

Introduction

1

1 Legal education research as an imperative

3

BEN GOLDER, MARINA NEHME, ALEX STEEL AND PRUE VINES

2 The reception of legal education research in the (legal) academy

12

FIONA COWNIE

PART II

Current landscapes

29

3 Neoliberalism in legal education research

31

PETER D. BURDON

4 The poverty of pessimism

49

DAVID DIXON

5 Empirical legal education research in Australia: 2000–2016

74

ALEX STEEL

6 A meta-survey of scholarship of learning and teaching in practice-based legal education

107

KRISTOFFER GREAVES

7 Towards a taxonomy of legal education research

120

KATE GALLOWAY, MELISSA CASTAN AND ALEX STEEL

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| PART III  |            |
| Calls for action  | 141 |
|    |            |
| 8 Who controls university legal education?The case of England and Wales  | 143 |
| ANTHONY BRADNEY  |            |
|    |            |
| 9 A virtuous journey through the regulation minefield:reflections on two decades of Australian legaleducation scholarship                                 | 159 |
| SALLY KIFT   |            |
|    |            |
| 10 Galloping off madly in one direction: legal educationreform, the (im?)possibility of evidence-based policymaking and a plea for better design thinking | 196 |
| JULIAN WEBB  |            |
|    |            |
| 11 Thinking or acting like a lawyer? What we don't knowabout legal education and are afraid to ask   | 223 |
| CARRIE MENKEL-MEADOW   |            |
|    |            |
| 12 Educating for the past, the present or the future?   | 246 |
| TANIA LEIMAN   |            |
|    |            |
| 13 Prometheus, Sisyphus, Themis: three futures forlegal education research   | 271 |
| PAUL MAHARG  |            |
|    |            |
| Index   | 289 |