

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	page xi
1 Introduction	1
Locating This Study on the Map of Johannine Scholarship	5
The Diversity of Second Temple Judaism, and Identification with “Israel” as a Theological Claim	11
“ Ioudaioi ” and “Israelites” in the Later Second Temple Period	21
Judaism as a Tradition in Transformation and Crisis	28
John, the Ioudaioi , and the Narration of an Epistemological Crisis	38
Conclusion	47
2 Announcement: John 1–4	48
John 1:1–18: “The Word Became Flesh”	48
John 1:19–51: Jesus and Eschatological Hopes of Israel	73
John 2:13–22: Jesus and the Dwelling Place of God	81
John 3:1–21: New Birth and Living Water	86
John 4:4–42: The Restoration of Judah and Samaria	90
Conclusion	101
3 Debate: John 5–10	103
John 5: Healing on the Sabbath	103
John 6: The Bread That Satisfies	118
John 7–10:21: Jesus: The Hope of Sukkot/The Deceiver of the People	133
Conclusion	174
4 Crisis: John 11–20	176
John 12:37–43: The Message of Jesus and the Disbelief of the People	177
John 15: The True Vine and the Future of Israel	187

Contents

John 13–19: Jesus, David, and Righteous Suffering	194
John 18–20: Who Is the King of Israel?	205
5 Conclusion: Implications for the Interpretation of John	212
The Historical Context of John's Gospel	213
The Theological Center of John	224
John and Jewish–Christian Relations	226
Conclusion	232
Select Bibliography	234
Index	245