

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
1.1	“The White Man’s Indian”	1
1.1.1	“The Indian and the White Other”.....	5
1.1.2	Along the Stony Road towards Reconciliation.....	8
1.1.3	Redefining a Myth – Embedding Reconciliation in Education.....	19
1.2	Reversing the Gaze – “The Indian’s White Man”	25
1.2.1	Indigenous Testimonies – On the Trails of the White Man	28
1.3	Scholars of Reversal avant la lettre	32
2	The Emergence of the Color White	35
2.1	Historical Development – Creating a Myth	35
2.2	The Invisible White Man	43
2.3	Using White Ink – Native American Literary Transparency ..	56
2.3.1	Authentic Voices – the Writing “Indians”	62
3	Theoretical Framework – Critical Race Theory (Tribal Critical Race Theory) and Whiteness Studies	71
3.1	Understanding Race – Manifold Perspectives	74
3.2	Resisting the Cliché	81

4	The Voice of Color	97
4.1	A Rereading of Sarah Winnemucca's Life Among the Piutes: Their Wrongs and Claims (1883).....	97
4.1.1	“My White Brothers Have Come at Last!”.....	104
4.1.2	Approaching and Understanding White Culture	111
4.1.3	Collecting Experiences – Encountering the White Man	117
4.1.4	Winnemucca and the Indian Agents	134
4.1.5	Winnemucca and the Military	143
4.2	A Rereading of Zitkala-Ša's American Indian Stories (1921)	152
4.2.1	Native American Residential Boarding Schools	154
4.2.2	Closing the Educational Gap	159
4.2.3	Zitkala Ša's Counterstory	164
4.2.4	The White Man's Land of Milk and Honey	176
4.3	A Rereading of Charles Alexander Eastman's Indian Boyhood (1902) and From the Deep Woods to Civilization (1916)	221
4.3.1	Into the Woods – Discovering Native American Territory.....	225
4.3.2	The Mysterious “Pale-Faces”	230
4.3.3	Towards Civilization – Embracing White Culture	239
5	Conclusion	257
6	Works Cited	265
6.1	Primary Sources	265
6.2	Secondary Sources	269