

Table of Contents

Contributors .....	11
Urban pigs: dietary, cultural and landscape changes in 1st millennium AD Rome Umberto Albarella, Jacopo De Grossi Mazzorin &amp; Claudia Minniti .....	17
Animal palaeopathology: between archaeology and veterinary science László Bartosiewicz .....	31
Early farmers in the Southern Caucasus – an archaeozoological perspective Norbert Benecke .....	41
Aşıklı Höyük: Separate activity areas for the whole community Hijlke Buitenhuis .....	55
Discarding practices among early herders on the western watershed of the Puna de Atacama, Chile (ca. 3000-2300 cal BP) Isabel Cartajena, Patricio López Mendoza, Boris Santander, Lautaro Núñez .....	65
“Bucrania: a social marker? The case of Kerma, Sudan (2500-1500 BC)” Louis Chaix .....	85
Çukuriçi Höyük – Animal exploitation from early Ceramic Neolithic settling to early Bronze Age proto-urban life at the western coast of Anatolia Alfred Galik .....	99
The Oppidum of Manching. A key site for Celtic Zooarchaeology Rupert Gebhard, Henriette Obermaier .....	123
Using palaeogenetics to unravel the impact of humans on animal populations in the past Eva-Maria Geigl, Thierry Grange .....	131
The camel in cuneiform inscriptions Martin Heide .....	139
Transition to food production suspended – a remarkable development in the Eastern Upper Tigris Valley, South Anatolia Hitomi Hongo, Saiji Arai, Ryohei Takahashi, Can Yumni Gündem .....	155
Sometimes stewed, sometimes offered: Animals in the Wadi Howar region (Northern Sudan) during the Holocene Friederike Jesse .....	173
Joachim Boessneck’s work in Iran. Animal Exploitation in Mannaea and Urartu, NW-Iran. A short overview Ernst Stephan Kroll .....	187
Horses and their fate: the Xiongnu and Turkic necropolis of Tamiriin Ulán Khoshuu (Arkanghaï, Mongolia) Yves Lignereux .....	193
Mantras and Rituals in Tibetan Medicine: Some Unconventional Cures for Horses Petra Mauer .....	217

Looking for Needles in Haystacks: The archaeological record of the European Hake ( Merluccius merluccius Linnaeus, 1758) in Iberia Arturo Morales-Muñiz, Eduardo González-Gómez de Agüero, Carlos Fernández-Rodríguez, Ricard Marlasca Martín, Laura Llorente-Rodríguez, Begoña López Arias, Eufrasia Roselló-Izquierdo .....	231
Diet of wild versus culturally controlled caprines in early Neolithic Anatolia based on stable carbon isotope analysis of bone apatite Ferdinand M. Neuburger, Nadja Pöllath, Joris Peters .....	251
Traces of hunting religion in central west Greenland Kerstin Pasda .....	261
Reviewing the history of polled cattle in light of recent genetic data from modern breeding programs Renate Schaßberg, A. Haruda, Hermann H. Swalve .....	273
Taphonomy and its influence in archaeozoological interpretation: An example from a Neolithic site in France Jörg Schibler .....	283
The Mulomedicina of Theodoricus Cerviensis (13 th century) and its influence on late Medieval and early Modern hippiatrics Martina Schwarzenberger, Lisa Sannicandro .....	295
The sacrifice of camels and horses in association with burials of the Late Pre-Islamic Period in southeast Arabia Margarethe Uerpmann, Hans-Peter Uerpmann, Adelina Kutterer .....	303
A Late Period fish deposit at Oxyrhynchus (el-Bahnasa, Egypt) Wim Van Neer, Jérôme Gonzalez .....	311
The beginning of cat domestication in East and West Asia Jean-Denis Vigne .....	343
Ethnobiology of donkey and camel management on the Afar Salt Route: Insights into ancient land-based trade routes Helina S. Woldekiros, Fiona Marshall .....	355
Instructions for authors .....	375