

Contents

List of Examples and Figure	xiv
Preface	xv
Acknowledgements	xix
I Song and the Medium of Music	I
Overview	I
1.1 Are Songs Literature?	I
1.2 Philosophy of Music	5
1.3 Are Songs Music?	12
1.3.1 What's in a Name? Songs and (Pure) Music	12
1.3.2 Artistic Categories and Artistic Media	14
1.3.3 The Medium, or Media, of Song	16
1.4 Review and Looking Ahead	23
Questions	24
Notes	25
Further Reading	28
2 Emotions in the Music	29
Overview	29
2.1 Expressionism	31
2.2 Arousalism	33
2.3 Eliminativism	38
2.4 Resemblance Theories	40
2.4.1 Interlude on Emotions	41
2.4.2 Back to Resemblance Theories	45
2.4.3 Expression and Expressiveness	47
2.4.4 Resemblance and Experience	49
2.4.5 Conventionalism	50
2.5 Imagination Theories	53

2.6 Comparing Resemblance and Imagination Theories	55
2.6.1 Constraints on Experienced Resemblance and Imagined Expression	55
2.6.2 The Range of Music's Expressiveness	57
2.6.3 Expressiveness and the Medium of Music	60
Questions	62
Notes	63
Further Reading	65
3 Emotions in the Listener	67
Overview	67
3.1 Uncontroversial Emotional Responses to Music	67
3.2 Emotional Responses to Music's Expressiveness	69
3.2.1 The Puzzle	69
3.2.2 Emotional Contagion	71
3.2.3 Emotional Responses to Imaginings	74
3.2.3.1 Waltonian Theories	76
3.2.3.2 Realist Theories	80
3.2.4 Comparing the Theories	84
3.3 Robinson's Sophisticated Expressionism	86
3.3.1 Emotional Response and Appreciation	87
3.3.2 Music as Romantic Expression	90
Questions	94
Notes	94
Further Reading	96
4 Musical Understanding	97
Overview	97
4.1 Pitch	99
4.1.1 Frequency and Pitch	99
4.1.2 Pitch Space and Movement	101
4.2 Rhythm	107
4.3 Harmony	112
4.4 Music as Language	114
4.5 Form	115
4.6 Analysis	119
4.6.1 The Nature of Analysis	119
4.6.2 The Necessity of Analysis	122
Questions	124
Notes	125
Further Reading	128

5 The Value of Music	129
Overview	129
5.1 General Issues about Musical Value	130
5.1.1 Intrinsic, Instrumental, and Inherent Value	130
5.1.2 Monism and Pluralism about Musical Value	132
5.1.3 Subjective, Objective, and Intersubjective Value	135
5.2 The Value of Musical Emotions	138
5.2.1 The Value of Emotions in the Music	139
5.2.2 The Value of Emotions in the Listener	142
5.2.3 The Puzzle of Negative Emotional Responses to Music	144
5.2.4 Resistance to the Affective Value of Music	147
5.3 The Value of Formal and Basic-Musical Features	148
5.3.1 The Value of Musical Content and Form	149
5.3.2 The Value of Music's Abstractness	152
5.4 Review and Looking Ahead	153
Questions	153
Notes	154
Further Reading	156
6 Performance	157
Overview	157
6.1 What Is a Musical Performance?	157
6.2 Music-Making without Performance	163
6.3 Performances of Musical Works	164
6.3.1 Sonicism vs. Contextualism I: An Introduction	168
6.3.2 Platonism vs. Materialism	169
6.3.3 Sonicism vs. Contextualism II: Aesthetic and Artistic Properties	171
6.4 Looking Ahead	175
Questions	175
Notes	176
Further Reading	178
7 Authenticity	179
Overview	179
7.1 Works, Scores, and Performances	179
7.2 Concepts of Authenticity	181
7.3 Pure Sonicism, Timbral Sonicism, and Instrumentalism	183

7.4 Score-compliance Authenticity and Interpretive Authenticity	188
7.5 Personal Authenticity in Popular Music	197
7.6 Review and Looking Ahead	200
Questions	201
Notes	201
Further Reading	203
8 Improvisation	204
Overview	204
8.1 What Is Improvisation?	205
8.2 The Ontology of Jazz	210
8.3 The Values of Jazz	215
8.4 Review and Looking Ahead	220
Questions	220
Notes	220
Further Reading	221
9 Recordings	222
Overview	222
9.1 Transparency and Jazz Recordings	223
9.2 Studio Technology and Classical Recordings	225
9.3 Constructed Tracks and Rock Recordings	228
9.4 Covers	236
9.5 The Comparative Value of Live and Recorded Music	243
9.6 Review and Looking Ahead	246
Questions	246
Notes	247
Further Reading	249
10 Music and Morality	250
Overview	250
10.1 Are Moral Flaws Artistic Flaws?	252
10.2 Can Singing along Be Immoral?	255
10.3 Does Instrumental Classical Music Oppress Women?	259
10.4 Can White People Sing the Blues?	264
10.4.1 The Proprietary Argument	266
10.4.2 The Experiential-Access Argument	267
10.4.3 The Moral-Deference Argument	268