

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Foreword	viii

Introduction: Rethinking white societies in Southern Africa, 1930s–1990s	1
DUNCAN MONEY AND DANELLE VAN ZYL-HERMANN

1 Workers called white and classes called poor: The “White Working Class” and “Poor Whites” in Southern Africa, 1910–1994	23
JONATHAN HYSLOP

2 Rhodesian state paternalism and the white working-class family, 1930s–1950s	42
IVO MHIKE

3 Immigration and settlement of “undesirable” whites in Southern Rhodesia, c. 1940s–1960s	59
GEORGE BISHI

4 White people fit for a new South Africa? State planning, policy and social response in the parastatal cities of the Vaal, 1940–1990	78
BILL FREUND

5 Whites, but not quite: Settler imaginations in late colonial Mozambique, c. 1951–1964	97
CAIO SIMÕES DE ARAÚJO

6 “Village Portugal” in Africa: Discourses of differentiation and hierarchisation of settlers, 1950s–1974	115
CLÁUDIA CASTELO
7 Labour and mobility on Rhodesia’s railways: The 1954 firemen’s strike	134
NICOLA GINSBURGH
8 The dog that didn’t bark: The Mufulira strike and white mineworkers at Zambian independence	154
DUNCAN MONEY
9 Social engineering and scientific management: Some reflections on the apartheid public service and historical process	173
NEIL ROOS
10 White workers and the unravelling of racial citizenship in late apartheid South Africa	194
DANELLE VAN ZYL-HERMANN
Bibliography	215
Index	234