

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	ix
List of contributors	xi
Acknowledgements	xv
1 Comparative public administration: the state of the art Jon Pierre	1
2 Bureaucracy in a divided regime: the United States B. Guy Peters	18
3 Public administration at the crossroads: the end of the French specificity? Luc Rouban	39
4 Public administration in Germany: political and societal relations Hans-Ulrich Derlien	64
5 'Deprivileging' the UK civil service in the 1980s: dream or reality? Christopher Hood	92
6 Japan: divided bureaucracy in a unified regime Ellis S. Krauss	118
7 Governing the welfare state: public administration, the state and society in Sweden Jon Pierre	140
8 Public administration in developing countries: Kenya and Tanzania in comparative perspective Goran Hyden	161
9 The Europeanization of the national bureaucracies? Edward C. Page and Linda Wouters	185
10 Conclusions: a framework of comparative public administration Jon Pierre	205
Index	219