

Preface xi

Acknowledgments xv

About the Author xvii

Introduction 1

Forming a Worldview 2

A Case for Change 4

Feelings Aren't Things to Gloss Over 8

1 Inside Out: What's the Value of Being an Outsider? 11

A Red-Hot Industry 13

A Few Things to Keep in Mind 15

2 Going Haywire: What's the Relationship between Economics and Communication? 17

"Most of the Time We Coast" 20

The Virality Coefficient 22

3 Resonance versus Share of Voice: In What Direction Is Technology Propelling Us? 25

A Lesson in Audience Physics 28

The Economy of Community 29

Are We Speaking on the Same Wavelength? 30

Avoiding Dissonance Begins in the Briefing 31

4 Creativity Applied Strategically: What Parts of a "Brand" Matter Most to a Digitally Wired Audience? 35

The Cracks in the Axioms 36

Emotional Horsepower Drives Many a Decision 37

Influence Rules the Day, But We Can Rule Influence 39

Surviving Brand Quicksand 40
A System Built for Brand “Value” 41
Every Hero Needs a Villain 42

5 Communication as a System: How Does Communication Work in Society? 45

Communication as a “System” 46
Wired to Think, Feel, and Do 50
Finding the Right Triggers and Traps 51
A Fight for Equality 55

6 Lexicon Triggers: Branding Objective: Appeal to a “Tribe” 59

Limits of Words 67
Context 68
The Invisible Hand: Community 70
Shifting from Target Audience to Community 74
A Tale of Two Words 78
Niche Wins 79
Branding Language 80
A Planning Process Mindset Shift 83
The Double-Edged Sword of Being a “Household Name” 85
Anchors and Normative Messaging 87
Cutting Anchors Loose 91
Conclusion 94

7 Audio Cues: Branding Objective: Develop Instant Recognition 103

Every Brand Longs to Be Heard 104
Audio’s Role: Hardly New, But Certainly Evolving 107
Sound as a Mood Shifter 110
Is Audio the Most Salient Part of “Memory”? 113
Our Firewall Works Like This: “Tuning Out” 114
How Brands Learn from Television Theme Songs 116
Owning a Sonic Cue—Decline of the Jingle 118
Translating Sounds 119

Results at the Speed of Sound	121
Sound and Product Design	123
Voice	125
This Could Give You a Headache	128
Repetition Is Marketing Mythology	129
Conclusion	134

8 Visual Stimuli: Branding Objective: Become a “Conversational” Brand 145

Words Are Finite, Images Are Limitless	147
Say It with Purpose	153
Color	155
Shape	159
Becoming More Visual Searchers, Learners, and Sharers	162
The Journey to Brands Being Content	164
Welcome to the Newest Communication Club Members	167
The New Moving Image	170
Tracking Evolution One Dictionary at a Time	173
Conclusion	174

9 Experience Drivers: Branding Objective: Close the Feedback Loop 185

Create a Cross-Functional System	189
Business Models Built on Experience	191
Evolution of “Brand”	194
Omnichannel Attributes	197
Great Strategy Comes from Unconventional Places	201
The Goal of Experience	209
Conclusion	213

10 Cultural Connections: Branding Objective: Align Thoughts and Actions 221

The Myth of “Safety in Size”	227
Communication’s Role in Culture	229
Getting Out of Your Seat, and into the Field	232
Who’s the Villain in Your Brand Story?	235
Finding Your North Star	238

Building a Narrative	239
An Age Where POV Matters	240
Owning Your Narrative	244
Undercover Boss	246
Aiming for Success in Action and Commitment	255
Finding Your Brand's North Star	256

11 Following the Feeling: What's the Role of Technology in Following the Feeling? 265

Achieving Brand Lift-Off	269
--------------------------	-----

Index 273